COUNCIL VOTES THIRD TRACK RAIL SYSTEM

Ordinance for Pennsy Right of Way on First Reading.

SUSPENSION HIT Carriers Agree to Im- prove Ralston Crossing.

Ordinance granting the Pennsylvania Railroad company permission to complete its proposed third track system through East Liverpool was passed on first reading by city council last night. Councilmen A. C. Frost and H. S. Lindell opposed suspension of the rules, blocking further consideration of the measure.

Provisions of Measure.
The proposal, advocated by local manufacturers, gives the railroad company permission to arrange, relocate and reconstruct existing tracks over Jackson street, Pink alley, Peach alley, Market street, Belleek street, Mulberry street and Virginia avenue and to construct an additional track on the south side of the present main tracks over Jackson street, Pink alley, Peach alley, Second street, Broadway, Belleek street, Mulberry street, Virginia avenue and Delta avenue.

The company, under the ordinance, agrees to enlarge the undergrade crossing at Ralston's to a 30-foot width in order to permit the city to construct an improved road between the River road and Pennsylvania avenue and to install automatic lights at Market street, Virginia avenue and Putman street. Written acceptance of the agreement within 30 days after

Doctors are ordered to report birth

Italy's ruler does not allege any

He simply believes that more Ital-

YET France, with a low birth rate, does well. It is a country with practically nobody unemployed. It won the greatest war in all history. That war was won at Verdun by French-

Mr. Mellon believes that such other investments that represent no

SOUTHERN BELLES TO RULE AT FESTIVAL

The first four princesses have been selected to reign at the annual Apple Blossom festival to be held at Winchester, Va. It is considered quite an honor to be chosen, but as you can see for yourself, the judges simply couldn't pass these four by. Virginians all, they are Miss Arnold Prince, left, of Waverly; Miss Louise C. Winfree, above of Lynchburg; Miss Ethel G. Pekins, inset, of Fork Union and Miss Sarah Jennings, right, of Buena Vista.

'ACCIDENT' SAYS DRY AGENT WHO KILLED WOMAN

Deputy Sheriff on Stand
In Aurora, Ill., Inquest.

STORY OF RAID

"She Had Pistol Leveled at Me," He Testifies.

AURORA, Ill., April 2.—Deputy Sheriff Roy Smith, who shot and killed
Mrs. Lillian De King in a liquor raid upon the woman's home, on the witness stand at the official inquest here today, claimed he shot the woman by accident.
"She had a pistol leveled at me," he said. "I backed up to get out of range and somehow, I don't know, it isn't very clear to me, my shotgun went off."
"After that nothing was clear. I in my leg. I saw the little boy on the heard another shot and I felt a sting floor with a revolver in his hand."
Smith's story was told to a jury of six men from his cot in a hospital where he is slowly recovering from the bullet wound inflicted by Gerald De King, 12-year-old son of the slain woman. Coroner Vierck presided.
Smith was asked the usual formal questions and was then asked to tell the story of the raid.
"Treadwell and Anderson, two deputies, told me that night to get a bulletproof vest and get a shotgun and go with them. I didn't know where we were going."

MAN FACES JAIL ON RUM CHARGE

George Anderson, pottery worker, was to be taken to the county jail at Lisbon this afternoon in default of a $100 fine assessed by Municipal Judge
Hanley yesterday on a charge of ille-

Anderson was arrested in East Sixth street Saturday night with three half pints of liquor in his possession, police reported.

Carl Young, who was arrested in Walnut street Saturday night upon a liquor possession count, paid his fine of $100 and costs and was released from custody.

SCRANTON, Pa., April 2.—Two men were slain in a revolver and knife duel today at North Scranton.
Damian Curcio, 32, dropped dead in his tracks from bullet wounds in the heart, said to have been inflicted by Nicholas Yanni, 29, a neighbor.

Yanni, with 11 stab wounds in his abdomen, was found 50 feet from Cur-cio. Yanni died a short time after being taken to the state hospital.
Police were told that both the men had engaged in an argument at the Curcio home and that both drew weapons simultaneously. Curcio, wielding the long knife, which was later found, and Yanni drawing a revolver.

Frank Gallagher, a pedestrian, found both bodies on the sidewalk, Curcio was at his own doorstep dead, and Yanni, 50 feet away, was still alive but unconscious, dying a few minutes later.

FOUR-CENT GAS TAX LOOMS AS GOVERNOR ACTS

Cooper Announces His Support of State
Bill.

$11,000,000 MOVE

Ohio C. of C., Grange
And Farm Bureau
Favor Plan.

By JOHN J. VINCENT,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

COLUMBUS, O., April 2.—Gov. Myers Y. Cooper today had announced his support of the increased gasoline tax bill which raises the gasoline tax in Ohio from three to four cents.

With the chief executive aligning himself with the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, the Ohio State Grange and the Ohio Farm Bureau federation, chances for passage of the bill in both houses of the legislature appeared more than favorable today.

Sponsors of the bill declare that no trouble will be experienced in getting the required votes in the lower house, and Senator Allan G. Aikler, senate floor leader, stated that he thought the solons of the upper house would follow suit.

It was impossible as yet to determine what effect this will have on the general revenue bill, which included an appropriation of $2,000,000 for road improvement work.

Cities Get 10 Per Cent.
The four-cent tax bill, if passed, will cost the Buckeye state motorists approximately $11,000,000 each year.

Of this amount, 60 per cent will go to the state, 10 per cent to municipalities, 10 per cent to be divided among the counties, and the remaining 20 per cent going to the townships.

This would give the townships about $1,600,000, an increase of $600,

Thursday.

MILITARY HONORS

Cruiser Will Bring Body Back to United States.

BY FREDERIC K. ABBOTT,
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, April 2.—Thousands today sought admission to the American embassy to pay homage to France's beloved friend, Ambassador Myron T.
Herrick, who is to be accorded such honors in death as France has never yet accorded the envoy of a foreign power.

Thursday morning, funeral services will be held at the embassy. Premier Painleve will deliver a eulogy there, just as he did over the remains of Marshal Foch at Les Invalides a week ago today.

HOME TOWN PAYS ITS TRIBUTE

WELLINGTON, O., April 2.—
Here where Myron T. Herrick, late ambassador to France, attended school and in later life provided this village with a library, townfolk paid homage to his memory today, flying their flags at half mast and speaking in subdued voices of the Ohio-born man who became internationally known.

Aged residents here recall vividly the ride of a young boy upon horse back each morning from a farm, back in the country lanes, to a little red school house here, and the occasion of his last visit in January, 1928, when Herrick witnessed the unveiling of a tablet, placed in the library in his honor.

The ambassador's body then will be moved from the embassy to the American cathedral with full military honors. The most distinguished officials of France will be in attendance at the ceremonies in the cathedral.

Son Changes Plans.
France has offered the use of its fastest cruiser, the Tourville, in bringing the body back to the United States.

From the church, therefore, the ambassador's coffin will, in all probability, be taken to a special train which will take the funeral party to Coast guard headquarters asserted that none of their boats had molested the Fish yacht, and the customs authorities said no report had been received from the New York customs authorities, nor any complaint from Fish.

OTHER ROOFS ARE DAMAGED AS GALE RIPS PATH THROUGH CITY

Windows are Shattered, Outbuildings, Fences
And Billboards are Wrecked and Trees are Uprooted in District and Along Rural Highways as Terrific Wind Rages.

Death and property damage estimated at $3,000 trailed the wind storm which ripped through the East Liverpool district yesterday.

Margaret Eva Beal, 11-year-old Newell school girl, died in the City hospital at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon from a fractured skull and a broken jaw, suffered about 10 o'clock yesterday morning when a double window in the Fourth street school building crashed, burying her beneath the wreckage.

Fearing that the walls of the old power house might collapse after a section of the roof had been blown off, Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore closed the River road late yesterday afternoon. The barricade was removed at 11 o'clock this morning after the wind had subsided.

The River road bus was routed over Pennsylvania avenue to East End, during the early morning trips.

A large section of the roof of the Potters Supply company along the River banks was also torn away by the force of the gale.

THREE PERSONS KILLED, SEVERAL HURT IN OHIO, CHECKUP SHOWS

COLUMBUS, O., April 2.—Three persons are dead, several persons are seriously injured and property loss of thousands of dollars as results of the wind storm which swept through Ohio yesterday, it became known today as a state-wide checkup was completed.

L. A. Cornett, 35, was killed at Newark when a tree was blown down on top of his auto. Loa Bacon, 16-year-old girl, was struck and killed by an auto when the near-cyclone blew her into its path, near Ottawa.

Margaret Beal, 10, died from a crushed skull last night when high winds at Newell, W. Va., across the Ohio river from East Liverpool, shattered a large double window in a school house.

House Lifted from Foundation.
At Cleveland, two construction workers, Frank Moore, 70, and Charles Zizka, 74, were seriously injured when the storm tore the roof from the building on which they were working. Moore was buried under the debris, but was rescued within a few minutes. Zizka was struck by a falling sign.

A 77-year-old woman, Mrs. J. C.
Kohler, suffered a fractured hip when the wind blew her from her feet, at Wapakoneta.

One of the freaks of the storm was the lifting of a house near Holgate.
It was carried 15 feet, without any damage. The three occupants of the house escaped injury.

Tiffin suffered heavily. Loss of more than $10,000 was recorded.
There the gale unroofed a large commercial garage, several employees narrowly escaping injury or death.

Grade School was Dismissed at Cuyahoga Falls when uprooted trees threatened the structure.

Canton, Akron, Youngstown, Alliance, and Massillon all reported property damage.

Everywhere over the state, uprooted trees and leveled wires were in evidence.

For more than two hours yesterday,
Fostoria was cut off from telephone communication and traffic was disrupted for a time.

Velocity of the wind varied from 35 to 60 miles an hour, the latter intensely being felt in the northern part of the state.

Buckeye Lake, popular resort near here, also suffered considerable damage. Many cottages were damaged, and in some instances unroofed.

From Wilmington, Lima and Jamestown came reports of property loss.

NEW FLOOD MENACES FOLLOW STORM IN MID-WEST; PROPERTY LOSS HIGH

CHICAGO, April 2.—(INS)—New flood menaces arose in a half dozen middle-western states today following one of the most destructive storms to visit the section in years.

The storm blew out of the southwest on Easter Sunday and for 24 hours deluged states in the Mississippi valley with a combination of rain, hail and snow.

Small streams emptying into the Father of Waters in Missouri, Iowa and Illinois, already at flood stage, swelled to alarming proportions with the additional three inches of precipitation.

Hundreds of men were patrolling the Mississippi river levees protecting northeast Missouri and southeast Iowa. Streams in southwestern Illinois also were on a rampage.

Mississippi is Rising.
The Mississippi at Quincy, Ill., today had reached the 20-foot stage and serious breaks in the dikes up and down the Missouri side were feared momentarily. Canton, Mo., is already surrounded by water and several factories there have had to close down.

Much damage was done in other sections by the severe gale that accompanied the severe gale that accompanied the property damage has been placed at $1,000,000. Communication and power lines broke under the weight of ice and snow and many communities were completely cut off for hours.

Illinois and Indiana were also hard hit. At Indianapolis the wind reached a velocity of 60 miles an hour and smashed in plate glass windows, tore down wires and unroofed a few houses.

Woman is Killed.
The storm claimed one life here when Mrs. Effie Biezo, 90, was blown over by the wind and her skull was fractured.

ing to reinforce a section of the outer

EAST BOARDS UP BROKEN WINDOWS

NEW YORK, April 2.—Storekeepers in New York and New Jersey were busy today boarding up windows blown out by a cyclonic wind-storm which whirled through streets and country roads last night. Coincident to the storm the mercury dropped.

Plate glass windows were broken and signs dislodged all over the city. Jean Nash, 23, was cut on the face, hands and shoulders when a window was blown through as she passed, showering glass down upon her. News stands in Times Square, Park Row and elsewhere in the city were blown from their stations.

Destruction was caused by the wind in many parts of New Jersey.
Instances were reported of automobiles almost being blown off the road.

Gas Company Worker Hangs Self At Home

Body of Charles Headley, 58, is Found by Daughter in Their Ninth and Center Streets, Residence; Man Had Been Ill.

WELLSVILLE, O., April 2.—Body of Charles Headley, 58, former gas company employee, was found suspended by a clothes line from a cross sill in the cellar of his home at Ninth and Center streets yesterday afternoon shortly before 4 o'clock.

The discovery was made by a daughter, Mary, with whom the man had made his home. Headley, it is said, had been morose all day. Last week he had sold his property here and was planning to move to Louisville, O., to go on to a farm there which he owned jointly with his son, Basil.

He recently resigned from the service of the gas company here.

The daughter expressed the belief that her father, at the last moment, was loath to leave his home, and while discussing future plans with him yesterday morning, offered to aid him in getting back his job if he wanted it.

She left the house at 2 o'clock to go uptown and she returned shortly before 4. Her father was not down stairs and he did not respond when she called to the second floor. She went to the cellar where she found the body.

Chief of Police John Fultz investigated the case. The body was taken to the Haugh funeral home.

Headley Had Been in Ill Health. Earlier in the day Headley had called his son, Basil, at Louisville to tell him he was ill. He arrived shortly before 6 o'clock.

Headley had lived in Wellsburg for approximately 13 years. Prior to that time he had lived in Wellsburg, W. Va.

The daughter, Mary, and son, Basil, are the only immediate survivors.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Haugh funeral home, Seventh and Main streets, in charge of the Rev. A. A. Reavley, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Burial will be made in Wellsburg.

The club also will elect five directors. The directors later will elect officers.

POLICE ARREST
JAMES NOVACKPrisoner is Charged With Abduction of Own Child.

Charged with abduction Friday afternoon of James Novack, 6, his own son, James J. Novack, living near Charleroi, Pa., was arrested last night by Pennsylvania authorities, turned over to Chief of Police John Fultz this morning at 3 o'clock and both Novack and the youngster were returned to Wellsburg. Novack is in jail awaiting a hearing tonight before Acting Mayor Clyde Baker.

Novack and his wife were married eight years ago. Later they were divorced. The wife was awarded custody of the son. Then she married Roland Heathorn, Nevada street.

Friday afternoon Novack, another man and a woman went to the Heathorn home. Novack told the mother he wanted to take the child uptown and get him a new suit of clothes. He took the youngster, despite, it is said, the mother's objections and both disappeared.

Chief Fultz took charge of the case. Through wires to Harrisburg and western Pennsylvania automobile license authorities and police, he located Novack near Charleroi. Police there arrested Novack. When Fultz went there this morning, he found the Pennsylvania authorities had neglected to get the child. This he accomplished himself.

DON'T NEGLECT DAILY ROUGHAGE

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Will Supply It in Generous Quantities

There's danger in diets that lack bulk. This roughage is absolutely necessary to keep well. Without it constipation begins its deadly work. Unless prevented its poisons will ruin health, steal beauty, blast hopes.

Sallow complexions, headaches, listlessness are signs that constipation is present. But these can be banished—health and vigor can be regained by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is 100% bran and is 100% effective. It is guaranteed to bring natural, sure relief. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Doctors recommend it.

It's smart to be slender. So who can withstand the appeal of such a corset? Not many.

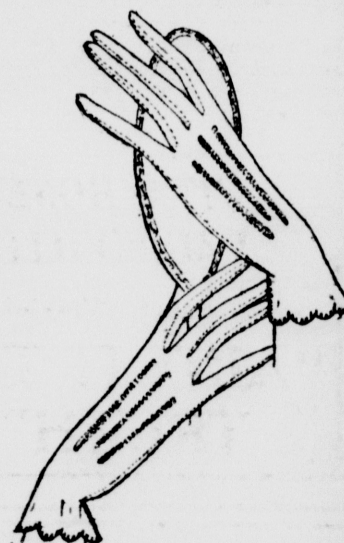

There are Bien Lio corsettes to restrain the figure at any and all salient points. Over the abdomen by means of invisible boning. In the back by skillful boning. At the sides by permalastic inserts. At the bust by ingenious darts and cut. And of course, being a one piece garment, the diaphragm is kept from bulging. The sizes range from 32 to 48; the price from $3.00 to $16.50.

Or—if you prefer a wrap-around or step-in girdle, and brassiere or bandette—you'll find among our beautifully fashioned Bien Lio garments just the models that suit you best. The price range is wide.

SKELETONS PARADING IN BROAD DAY-LIGHT

LIVING, BREATHING HUMAN SKELETONS SEEN DAILY ON LOCAL STREETS

Are you one of the many thousands of unfortunate human beings who drag around day in and day out, listless, haggard, nervous, irritable and constantly tired and worn out? Are you one of those weak, pale-faced puny individuals whose fleshless bones, like a skeleton, fairly "rattle" when you walk? Have you no appetite or desire to eat? Are you afraid to eat when your ARE hungry for fear the food won't agree with you? Do you experience a feeling of "weight or lumpiness" after eating? Do you have gas or pains in your stomach? Bloating? Dizziness? Do you roll and toss at night? Are you forced to "get up" often during the night? Are you nervous, cranky and easily discouraged? Do you feel tired on rising in the morning? Are you all crumpled up and hobbling around with rheumatism? Have you had the "flu" and feel extremely weak?

Is your complexion marred with pimples and other unsightly blemishes such as boils, carbuncles, tetter, liver spots, etc? are you weak, thin and in a general run-down condition. Now, be fair to yourself. If any of these ailments is a diagnosis of your case go to Mathews Cut Rate Medicine Store and get a bottle of the famous new tonic, called ORANGE ROOT, take it strictly according to directions watch your health improve. ORANGE ROOT is the greatest discovery in the medical world to day. It contains orange root (commonly known as Yellow Root), Iron, Celery and 13 other wonderful medicinal roots, barks, berries, blossoms and rhizomes, calculated by the highest medical authorities to purify the blood, sweeten the stomach, relieve indigestion and stomach trouble, dispel nervousness, induce restful sleep, drive out rheumatism, flush the kidneys, increase the appetite, improve the complexion, and to act as a general system tonic and reconstructer. A course of two or three bottles of ORANGE ROOT is guaranteed to increase the weight, promote good health, and put the rosy health glow into the cheeks of pale, weak and anemic men and women and children. Go right this minute to Mathews Cut Rate Medicine Store where Mr. M. L. Bartlett is daily meeting the public, explaining and demonstrating these wonderful medicines, get two or three bottles of the famous ORANGE ROOT TONIC and watch the immediate improvement in your health. Take occasionally at bedtime 1 or 2 little Orange Root NUGGETS: they stimulate sluggish liver and remove poisons from the system liberated by the tonic. Price Tonic $1.25; Nuggets, 50c.

Free sample of golden NUGGETS given. For speedy relief from dangerous "hang-on" coughs, night cough, deep-seated coughs, bronchial and asthmatic coughs, tickling in throat, ask for and INSIST upon H. & J. CREOSOTE EMULSION Compound. "It Tastes Like Smoke." Price 65c at Mathews Cut Rate Medicine Store, add 10c extra for Parcel Post charges if you wish any of these medicines mailed out of town.

COLORADO GIRL POSES AS MAN ALL HER LIFE

PROTESTS DRESS

By M. F. Dacey,
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.
CANON CITY, Colo.—Mrs. Mary Fitzgerald, prison matron, set about here recently to make a lady out of Jacqueline Moret who has spent her 24 years of life dressed as a man, doing a man's work, and devoting herself to a man's robust pastimes. Jacqueline Moret who has spent her Wyo., on charges of robbery. She was convicted of the Casper "job" and implicated in many others, was sentenced to serve time in the "big house" at Canon City. Her home is in Denver.

First of all, Jacqueline made great protest at having to don a dress instead of a heavy pair of overalls. There were no pockets in the light, flimsy, gingham thing, and she hated long hose. But when Matron Fitzgerald assured her she would become accustomed to the feminine attire, she conceded.

Dislikes Kitchen.
The next protest came from Jacqueline when she was called upon to help in the kitchen at the prison. She never had done that kind of work—she would rather drive a truck—but again the prison matron insisted, and Jacqueline consented. Many other protests followed. She was told that she must mend her own clothes, darn her own stockings, comb her hair in a style becoming to a woman, and many other things incident to feminine life.

Finally, relief came. She learned that prisoners were allowed to play cards! Now, she could do something that she enjoyed in Tijuana, Los Angeles, Fort Worth, Denver, Cheyenne, and other places in the wide open west; but there was a hitch to that—she could not gamble!

Makes Friend.
Jacqueline immediately made friends with the smallest and most feminine prisoner in the matron's department of the penitentiary. The friend was "Marty" Romero, tiny Denver girl, who is serving a term for killing her alleged attacker. This friendship, said Matron Fitzgerald, goes to prove that Jacqueline still has her feminine qualities and that she will soon become an ideal prisoner.

Mother Tells How Master Medicine Restored Health of Her Fourteen Year Old Daughter.

MISS ALBERTA ACKERMAN.
"What a wonderful thing it would be if all mothers could know of the splendid qualities of this master medicine, Konjola," said Mrs. Nellie Ackerman, speaking of her daughter, Miss Alberta Ackerman, 1726 Harrisburg Road, Canton.
"It benefited my daughter beyond my fondest expectations. Alberta suffered greatly from constipation. She was subject to dull headaches and always complained about being tired. Her complexion was sallow and rough. She was never hungry. She was listless and wanted only to sit around and never had a desire to mingle with the other children.
"Konjola had done so much good in my own case that I decided to give it to her. Konjola went right to work and changed her appearance almost immediately. It corrected her bowel trouble, stimulated her liver and restored her appetite. That languid, tired feeling has given way to one of glorious energy and vigor. Her complexion has cleared up. I know that Konjola is a splendid remedy for children, not only as a medicine but as a general tonic."
Konjola is sold in East Liverpool at Carnahan's drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

Ambassador Extraordinary

Indicative of the place he held in the hearts of a nation, which has never forgotten his decision to remain in Paris when the government and other foreign diplomats moved to Bordeaux in the face of the advance of the enemy on the capital during the early days of the World war, France will pay military honors to the late American Ambassador Myron T. Herrick.

Premier Poincare, who delivered the funeral oration over the body of Marshal Ferdinand Foch, the idol of France and generalissimo of the allied armies, will eulogize Ohio's distinguished son at the funeral services which will be held Thursday at the United States embassy. After this service a military cortege will proceed from the embassy to the American cathedral. And it is probable that France's offer of the cruiser Tourville to carry the body to the United States will be accepted by the family.

The body of Ambassador Herrick, who died suddenly Sunday in the French capital from an acute heart attack, rested today in a flower-banked room in the embassy, adjoining the apartment where Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, the trans-oceanic airman, greeted admiring crowds after his epic flight from New York.

And as France joins with the United States in mourning the death of an Ohioan, the peoples of many other nations to whom he rendered special service when the Germans were threatening to capture Paris, were clogging the cables with messages of condolence.

The type of man who represented the United States at Paris is perhaps best illustrated by the fact that, despite his 74 years, he walked bareheaded in the funeral cortege which paid homage to the memory of the late Marshal Foch from Notre Dame cathedral to Les Invalides and remained throughout the three-hour ceremonies in the cold damp air.

His career is one of which any man would be proud. As a boy he worked on his father's farm, received his early education in the country schools and, by odd jobs, paid his way through Ohio Wesleyan university, from which he graduated with honors. Then he studied law, won honors at the bar, became a capitalist and banker and was active in the civic, industrial and business life of Cleveland, his adopted city. He was drafted for the Ohio governorship, served with distinction, and six years later began his great work as ambassador to France. How faithful he served in the latter post in known throughout the world and can be attested by Col. Lindbergh whom he coached in turning the memorable Atlantic flight to the purposes of international good will.

Myron T. Herrick, a man of courage as well as ability, was not only an ambassador extraordinary; he was a great American who was admired by the nations of the world.

Permanent Registration

There is much to be said for the Herbert-Martin bill looking to the recodification of the election laws of the state which passed the senate, last week, by a uniform vote of the 29 members answering the roll call.

Among other matters the bill provides for a change in making the time of holding state and presidential primaries the same in presidential campaign years; makes permissible the use of voting machines, simplifies the method of making nominations and gives the secretary of state and the election board broader powers in dealing with election frauds.

But the chief merit of the proposed measure and the one which should be enacted into law, even though all other provisions in it fail as the result of amendatory action, is the provision looking to permanent registration in all cities of 16,000 and over and in lesser centers of population which may desire it. This provision empowers correction of the registration every four years, by additions of the names of new voters and the elimination of those who departed from the voting division as the result of death, change of residence or other cause. Save for such amendments, if they may call that, the registration would stand.

And why not? Why should the voters of a precinct be required to register every four years? Why should voters who have cast their ballots in the same precinct, year after year, be required to qualify quadrennially? Why should this needless trouble be forced upon them? Why should there be such utterly needless expense? Permanency of registration which the bill provides should effect commend it to all voters of Ohio.

Business Confidence

American business has obviously come to the conclusion that it has little reason to fear present prevailing and prospective high money as the forerunner of depression.

High money has almost invariably signalized the final stages of prosperity periods in the past and has frequently ushered in disturbance, but not one seems to believe it portends such evils this time.

Business has discovered that it can operate profitably on the present money level—more profitably, in fact, than it could in some previous periods with much cheaper money.

Business has concluded, also, that there is nothing in the present financial structure of American trade and industry to be shaken and weakened by the shocks and pressures that have developed in the money and stock markets.

These conclusions and discoveries have created a business psychology that does not accept present high money as implying, as it customarily has in former times, that the end of prosperity is at hand and that business reaction is just ahead.

This absence of the fear of high money is of itself a powerful factor of protection against business depression since fear, whether well based or not, is a major component of crisis and panics. But there is something more substantial to the present state of confidence than lack of fear of high money. It is that a definitely new structure of financial management has so extensively pervaded American industrial and commercial conditions as to create a state of affairs in which the effects of high money do not have the same bearings they formerly had.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 1.—The small borrower of money is not being overlooked by captains of finance in these days of billion dollar transactions. Congress has been pondering over farm relief programs involving hundreds of millions of dollars in credit and has been worrying about similar amounts being lent for speculative purposes at the New York money market. Meantime, many forward-looking bankers are awaking to opportunities for making profits on the one hand and for performing a much needed public service on the other in the field of small loans.

The problem of the man who wants to borrow from $50 to perhaps $300 or $500 is an old one. It was a problem before the dollar was known. It continues to be a problem but its proportions have grown so huge that financiers now are beginning to see that profit may arise from solving it and where profit beckons service is pretty sure to follow.

It is obviously impossible to make even a wild estimate of the amount of money lent in small amounts for the accommodation of individuals. Much of it changes hands on a personal basis with no possibility of a record being kept. However, the Russell Sage Foundation, which has undertaken many important studies of a sociological nature, has made an estimate on the basis of such small loans as are made through recognized channels. Such channels includes the so-called loan sharks and also pawnbrokers. In some states private lenders are licensed and it is possible to obtain some idea of the amount of business they do.

So on the basis of available information the Sage Foundation estimates that during last year these small loans amounted to the colossal sum of $3,000,000,000. In New York City the business of small lending is especially well recorded and it is found that in 1927 it amounted to $341,000,000 for that one city alone. This huge sum was made of approximately 2,600,000 separate transactions.

So important banks are now looking with more than passing interest at this small loan business. Even at 6 per cent a business of small loans $3,000,000,000 in volume pays a return of $180,000,000 a year. This is a sum which even the biggest financial institutions cannot afford to scorn. As a result some important banking institutions have put in small loan departments for the express purpose of making loans of $5 and upwards depending upon large volume to bring in a profit.

One of the things which prompted this innovation was the success of certain labor union banks. Such banks as the one established by the United Clothing Workers in New York showed what a large volume of business could be attracted. The labor unions did not start their banks for the purpose of making money but rather to accommodate workers who could not get small loans in any other way unless they were willing to fall into the hands of the loan sharks and pawnbrokers. But they have found that money is to be made out of such enterprises. It is the policy of the labor union banks, however, not to take the profit but to apply it in such a way that the interest rate to the borrower may be lowered.

Pawnbroking is one of the oldest and most profitable businesses in the world. It is the poor man's bank. Much tragedy and heartbreak are associated with the business because tangible pledges always are taken and very high interest rates must be paid. In some jurisdictions pawnshops are not allowed.

The individual loan shark preys upon the man in need of a small sum. He charges rates which often amount to as much as 50 per cent or more. There is something to be said for him, however. He operates with his own capital which is usually small. He takes risks necessarily. And he is the friend in need to the poor man suddenly requiring a little money to meet the expenses of, say, birth or death. He is a usurer to be sure but the borrower borrows of his own free will in one sense however much he is driven by a cruel necessity in another.

Growing realization on the part of big banks that there is money to be made out of this business give promise of bringing substantial relief to the millions of small borrowers who have no securities to hypothecate, no friends to endorse their notes, and nothing but their need and their honesty to recommend them.

Q. When is Mother's Day this year? E. A. F.
 A. Mother's Day is observed on the second Sunday in May. This year it will fall on the 12th.

Q. Please tell how the Japanese cherry trees happened to be planted in Washington. O. C. N.

A. Mrs. Taft shortly after going into the White House ordered 80 Japanese cherry trees to be sent to Washington and planted. She had seen and admired these trees while traveling in the East. A Japanese resident of New York made her a gift of 2000 of these trees. When they reached America they contained an insect that was injurious to American plants. For that reason they were thrown overboard. The city of Tokyo then gave the United States three thousand of these trees. The waterside around the Speedway and the tidal basin have these trees in blossom during the early spring.

Q. What American universities require college board examinations? J. P. W.

A. The following institutions require college board examinations for entrance: Albertus Magnus, Bryn Mawr, Mount Holyoke, *Carnegie, Haverford, Yale, *Harvard, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Princeton, *University of Pennsylvania, Wheaton. Those marked with an asterisk excuse a certain proportion of candidates with high school standing.

Q. What part of the population of Ireland is born in Ireland? W. F. L.

A. The population of Ireland is estimated to be 4,229,124, of which approximately 96 per cent is Irish born.

Q. Did Shakespeare have all of his plays printed? A. M. S.

A. Historians say that several of Shakespeare's tragedies were not printed until the publication of the author's collected works after his death. Of Shakespeare's 37 plays, 17 were printed separately in quartos, and, it appears, without his cooperation.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, April 2.—Something about New York creates an insatiable hunger for public life. Men and women caught in the impudent audacity of its spell not only make themselves superbly ridiculous but sacrifice reputations to splash on the front page.

Where—save New York—could he find a "Daddy" Browning, for instance? Here was a man born to wealth and culture who showed amazing aptitude for business. Yet he came so entranced seeing his name in print he hired a press agent and indulged in antics that made him an international topic for cheap jests.

The Earl Carroll bathtub incident was the tragic climax of a rising taste for headlines. Publicity has inspired actresses to face pneumonia gamboling through snow barefoot in Central Park, to "fake" suicide and risk their neck climbing flag poles. Picture newspaper's added fuel to the craze.

Nothing is too intimate for exploitation. New Yorkers mortgage homes to "dunk the body" in Palm Beach waves in their ache for the rotogravure sections. Speakasies line their walls with caricatures of those with the spotlight phobia. Even the liaison is glorified.

Broadway, especially, always has a picaresque freebooter out to gain fleshly enjoyments, power and fame through the newspaper puff. More than likely he is one of those arch-swindlers who has mastered the shaddows technique in Wall Street, but he backs a show or supper club and becomes a celeb.

The late "Diamond Jim" Brady was a conspicuous example of the growing guild. He was an astute business man who piled up millions. Yet nightly he decorated himself in a fantastic array of jewels to strut up and down theater aisles at first nights with a Dolly sister on each arm.

From Jim Fisk to Arnold Rothstein, the White Way has had an outstanding figure, with few morals and less manners, upon whom it bestows its mantle of fame. It hales them with mystery and grandeur and people, fascinated by the glamour, long to know them—even indeed to become familiars.

There are several press agencies whose chief activities are devoted, sub rosa, to making celebrities. The clients are mostly newly rich longing to give the tail of the metropolitan lion a twist. They are hallyboozed by "stunts"—outfitting a trick apartment, giving dinners to frayed noblemen or authorizing a "ghost written" novel. Many pay as high as $30,000 a year for such exploitation.

There is a type of Manhattan buc-caneer, who despite frequent exposures rarely fails to find his galaxy of shining makrs yearly. This year he took more than a dozen from the Social Register for a buggy ride. He works carefully and with precision.

No matter how strict the by-laws he wiggles into an exclusive club. His profession is vaguely defined as "in the street." He is a prince of entertainers and always sending clusters of orchids to wives of new acquaintances.

His is "the smart racket." When he has collected sheep for the shearing, he gives them a rush phone call. He is on the inside of a warm one and if they'll hurry the check he will include them in the loot. They usually fail.

"You like," writes Manhattan Traveling Man, "to give an impression New York is just another hick town. Do you know that back in your home burg the leading merchant is featuring bustles?"

Don't be that way. It's just Gay Ninety week back there.

A critic of Broadway plays complains all the musical plays these days are only for the young who like voo-doo bo-oop-a-doo and collegiate stamping. Well, as one of the old front row rams I don't care that for lavender and old lace sentiment or 17th century swashbucklers storming the moated castle. I like to cup an ear and imagine myself the handsome young man in white flannels with oiled hair stepping out from the bevy of girls, to sing: "Why make a fuss over me?" Then they wheel me home.

Cables Frank T. from Havana: "Did you hear about my flincky uncle who insisted upon two practise swings before his hanging?"

Don't you think I ever go any place? They cracked about him in a Broadway show early this season.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

How good the bed feels after a day of hard work! There is nothing like honest fatigue to give you a night of quiet, refreshing sleep. To get up in the morning with the desire to dance and sing is the enviable lot of perfectly healthy, right living persons in youth and early adult life.

It is natural to grow tired after a full day of toil, physical or mental. That is the feeling you should expect to experience.
 But to get up in the morning just as tired as you were on going to bed is not natural. It is not a feeling that should be passed over as of little importance.

Unaccustomed fatigue and loss of ease in carrying the unusual load of daily duties is a state of affairs that demands attention. There is something wrong with you and you should find out what it is.

Little children are in everlasting motion if they are healthy. The energy and activity of a young child are amazing.

Some time ago I was a caller at a home where there was a son about four years of age. We sat on the veranda, which was ten or twelve steps above the lawn. That boy must have gone down these steps and returned at least twenty times during the hour I was there. Each time he came back with a tale about some wild beast he had seen in the yard. I didn't know there were so many varieties of ferocious animals in the world.

Any normal youngster can keep up such efforts for hours every day. You don't need to be told there would be something wrong if a day came along when he refused to play and demanded to be held on the lap of his mother.

Once in a while I see a senator usually full of life, holding his head or leaning back in his chair for a half hour at a stretch. He is tired out and probably hates to admit it. In the cloak room it is not unusual to see a tired legislator stretched out on a couch, attempting to get back his energy.

If there is a real excuse for fatigue, it is all right to experience the feeling. But if there is no explanation for being terribly tired, something is wrong.

Let us see what are legitimate excuses for being tired: Hard physical labor, continued mental effort, unusual work of any sort. Any one of these causes would explain satisfactorily the sense of fatigue.

But if the things that have a right to make you tired have not been done, something is wrong. To be tired out morning, noon and night, all the time, is a sign of trouble. Where is it?

Many a person is suffering the effects of a hidden infection. There may be abscessed teeth where the inflammation is so slight as not to be noticed at all. This is a common cause for lowered vitality, with excessive tiredness as the chief symptom.

Lack of nourishing food or a well-chosen diet, may result in undernourishment with inability to do the usual work. You just can't do your duties unless you are properly fed.

Constipation or failure of the kidnneys to carry away the wastes of the body—both these conditions are capable of lessening vitality, with fatigue as a symptom.

If you are tired more than you should be, find out why. You are out or order.

Triumph of the Meat-Eaters.

Considered from the standpoint of dietetics, the removal of William Childs and the Childs family from the control of the nation-wide system of restaurants that bear that name is a most remarkable business episode.

Mr. Childs was, and probably still is, a vegetarian. But it is now quite evident that he miscalculated when he tried to make vegetarians of his patrons. They could not be made to "go vegetablewise." For some years this little health hint appeared frequently on the menus supplied by him. His assistants dug into the dusty records of history and took out the names of great men who were vegetarians, and these bits of historical research, together with eulogies of carrots, cabbages, spinach and other garden products, were also placed before the eyes of the eating public. His restaurants, if not utterly meatless, were nearly so.

But now Mr. Childs, as it were, has gone vegetablewise. He is a martyr to the cause of vegetarianism. His great vegetarian crusade has ended in disastrous failure, for he has not only failed to reform the eating habits of the public, but he has lost control of the company.

This proves conclusively that whatever may be the merits of a purely vegetarian diet, the American people are a nation of meat-eaters. They may not know as much about such things as vitamins and calories as they should in the interests of health, but they know what they like, and they like meat. Any great restaurant system that wishes to hold its customers should not neglect juicy steaks, roasts and pork chops and cream gravy. Such dietetic atrocities as "meatless roast turkey" will find no favor among the masses.

The ousting of Mr. Childs is a triumph of the meat-eaters.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

School Light Regulation Now Electrically Controlled

Arrow in the rear points to the magic box, close-up of which is shown below, which turns the lights on and off as the daylight outside dims or brightens, thus making it unnecessary for the teacher to worry about light regulations for her charges' eyes.

Device Will Protect Eyes Of Children From Strain.

The latest concern of General Electric company engineers is to protect human eyes from strain in the formative years. Toward this end, they have invented an electric gadget for use in the school room, consisting of a small box, on the end of which is a lens which reflects natural light upon a tube, better known as an "electric eye." Set for a certain degree of daylight intensity whenever light from outside falls below this mark, the "eye" automatically causes a small relay to switch on the lights in the room.

"Immature eyes of children may be permanently affected by the strain put upon them while they are in the process of development. That is why we feel this device should be one of the most important that has come into the schools in years," say the engineers.

All very noble and most practical, say we, but it is not unlikely that the kids wish they would do something to change school hours to 12-1, with an hour for lunch.

Never Be Without It.

"Baby had a bad cough with each tooth she cut. She is also subject to croup. Our never-failing remedy is Foley's Honey and Tar. It cuts the choking mucus, clears the throat, and stops the bad cough," says Mrs. Agnes Barnes, Altoona, Penna. Contains no opiates or chloroform, nothing that a careful mother hesitates to give her child. Just the well-known curative virtues of pure pine tar, fresh, clear honey and other valuable cough and tissue healing ingredients. Ask for it. For sale by Carnahan's 3 Drug Stores.—Adv.

INDIANA RAISES LID ON DRIVING

INDIANAPOLIS.—You can drive through the country districts of Indiana at any rate of speed desired, by terms of a law recently adopted, removing the speed limit in rural regions.

But the driver is held responsible under severe penalties for any avoidable accident.

Dangerously slow driving is as liable to cause the motorist as much trouble as speeding, by terms of the new law.

Autoist, however, must not drive more than 20 miles an hour in the business districts and not faster than 30 miles an hour in the residential districts of cities and towns.

IT'S SMALL WORLD AFTER ALL, SAYS MAKE-BELIEVE ALLEY STORY

By David P. Sentner.
(Copyright, 1929, by I. N. S.)
NEW YORK.—There isn't as much romance playing Broadway as certain sticky-hearted columnists would have you believe but there is still enough to go around.

For instance—
Not so long ago, a boy and a girl used to play together out in Los Angeles. They both had dreams and exchanged them.

Martha Vaughn wanted to sing like a bird, sing well enough to merit acclaim, wanted to be prima donna. Roy Ingraham, the boy next door, also had the wants.

He wanted to be the leader of his own orchestra some day. To feel the pulse of rhythm, the throb of melody the creative power of uniting efforts of a score or more of musicians into the beauty of harmony.

Passed the years, as they say in the vicinity of Los Angeles.

And now both Martha and Roy have realized their ambitions. Which isn't such diggity-dog news.

But—the shoulder-jiggling Fate brought both of these two together in the Hotel Paramount grill in the heart of Make-Believe alley.

Martha is prima donna of the extravagant revue there while Roy makes his boys beat the drum and coo on the saxophone like nobody can.

And what is more, Martha may soon be the tiniest operatic prima donna. She is petite and charming, weighing only 128 pounds. An operatic impresario "discovered" her and she is soon to have an audition by the Metropolitan Opera company.

Is Martha in love with Roy? Is Roy in love with Martha? Are they both in love with each other? I told you this was no sticky romance.

These two are just old friends—that's all.

World's Greatest Detectives.

The finest detective force in the world is unsung, and its doings are scarcely ever recorded in print. I mean the Post Office Inspectors' bureau of the American Post Office department.

"We do not want publicity," said one of its representatives, a keen detective. "We get better results working without attention."

Murders, burglaries, and frauds include the workaday business of these 600 super-sleuths who are located in all sections of the country and abroad. Fifty inspectors work out from the New York headquarters.

"They are ten percent more efficient than the famous Northwest Mounted Police," said an expert criminologist. "And this is no reflection on the Royal Mounted."

The members of the force all love their work and there is a marked esprit de corps in the service. Many turn down yearly offers from industrial concerns to head investigating departments at increased salaries over what they earn under the government.

When the P. O. Inspectors take over a case it is never finished until solved. In one famous case in Utah, they worked six years to procure the evidence.

In international circles, the American post office inspectors service is recognized as the leading government detective agency, with that of Great Britain second and France third.

Tank cars form one link in the distribution chain that brings you Sohio. Left, a typical scene at the Cleveland and Toledo refineries. Standard worker sealing filling dome on tank car.

Tank car arriving at one of Standard's 300 Bulk Stations before distribution to service stations and dealers. At the bulk station filling dome seals are broken and contents of car rigidly inspected.

SOHIO quality is SEALED IN at the refinery!

In order that your motor may receive the full benefit of the unique quality of Sohio, Red Crown and other Standard Oil (Ohio) products, the most exacting precautions are taken to guard and preserve this quality at every step from the refinery to your gasoline tank.

At the refineries, each tank car is carefully inspected before being filled. After filling, seals are applied to the filling dome. Thus Sohio quality is sealed in. At the Bulk Station seals are removed. Again the car and its contents undergo a rigid inspection. If there is any evidence of a broken seal or of a seal tampered with, the car and its load are immediately rejected.

Painstaking care, constant checking, frequent inspection—these first establish and then preserve for you the superior quality of all Standard Oil (Ohio) products.

Test Sohio in your own car. See what this difference means to your motor! Sohio is sold at 700 Standard Red-White-and-Blue Service Stations and by thousands of dealers throughout Ohio.

NICE WORDS WON'T DYE a dress or coat...

Neither pretty pictures nor colorful adjectives will dye a dress or coat. It takes real dyes to do the work; dyes made from true anilines.

Next time you have dyeing to do, try Diamond Dyes. See how easy it is to use them. Then compare the results. Your dealer will refund your money if you don't agree they are better dyes.

You get none of that red-dyed look from Diamond Dyes; no straking or spotting. Just fresh, crisp, bright new color. And watch the way they keep their brilliance through wear and washing. They are better dyes because they contain plenty of real anilines—from three to five times more than other dyes.

The white package of Diamond Dyes is the original "all-purpose" dye for any and every kind of material. It will dye or tint silk, wool, cotton, linen, rayon or any mixture of materials. The blue package is a special dye, for silk or wool only. With it you can dye your valuable articles of silk or wool with results equal to the finest professional work. When you buy—remember this. The blue package dyes silk or wool only. The white package will dye every kind of goods, including silk and wool. Your dealer has both packages.

Prominent Follansbee Theatre Operator Lauds Owa-Ton-Na

Says He Can Highly Recommend Owa-Ton-Na to Rheumatic Sufferers.

That dread condition, rheumatism, probably causes more suffering than any other one condition. How it so often leaves its victim in a crippled, helpless condition is almost daily in evidence. Swollen joints, stiff fingers, knees and ankles make it a disorder to be dreaded. So often it is brought about by neglect of the ordinary requirements of health. Conditions for which Owa-Ton-Na is especially recommended, stomach, liver and kidney disorders, nervousness and general run down condition of health; disorders of this kind are brought about by accumulation of harmful poisons in the body, slowing down the action of vital organs which necessitates their neglecting some of their important work.

Owa-Ton-Na's toning and cleansing effect on the stomach, results in a restoration of normal digestion, which means food in proper condition for assimilation. Its cleansing and toning effect on the intestinal tract from stomach to colon; results in the elimination of harmful disease producing germs which accumulate there. Herein lies probably the greatest cause of rheumatism. Owa-Ton-Na strikes at the very core of this disorder, eliminating its source, stimulating liver and kidney function, cleansing urinary tract and thus aiding in the elimination of rheumatism's harmful effects. This is done not by the use of strong harmful, dangerous drugs but by nature's own roots, herbs, barks and berries; making it harmless even if taken over long periods of time.

Mr. Okie Floyd, 634 Main street, popular theatre owner of that city, says: "I have been suffering with rheumatism and constipation for the past 20 years, during which time I have tried many different remedies with but very little result. I was also troubled with frequent attacks of indigestion. Gas and bloating spells often made me miserable. I just seemed to be tired and worn out all the time. No pep, no energy, although I am a comparatively young man."

"Rheumatism has been giving me a great deal of trouble. My back sometimes pained me something terrible and then at times I would get very dizzy. What caused this, I do not know. When Owa-Ton-Na was recommended to me, I gave it a trial, thinking that it would do me no more good than all the other medicines and treatments I had taken; but it acted different and today I must say that I am strong for Owa-Ton-Na. Almost from the start, my constipation was gone and once again my bowels act regularly."

"No more indigestion. I can now eat anything without getting those sour, bloating spells. Backaches and dizziness are gone and I certainly have 100% more pep than I used to. I can see a big change in the rheumatism and I know that before long, that too, will be gone. Owa-Ton-Na just seems to cleanse the system from top to bottom and I can gladly recommend it to any sufferer for the conditions for which it is recommended."

The Owa-Ton-Na of which Mr. Floyd speaks so highly is being explained daily at Carnahan's Drug Store, 114 East Sixth street, East Liverpool, O., where for a short time a special laboratory representative is daily meeting the public. Why not call today and learn for yourself the merits of Owa-Ton-Na? And how best to take it for quickest results. This service is free and incurs no obligation. Owa-Ton-Na is also sold at Carnahan's East End and Newell, W. Va. stores.

RADER SPEAKS AT DEFENDERS' SESSION HERE

Dynamic Pulpit Orator
At First U. P.
Church.

WINROD ASSISTS
Chicago Tabernacle
Chief on Program
Tonight.

Following a conference with the radio commission that made necessary his remaining in Washington, D. C., over Sunday, Paul Rader, dynamic pulpit orator, author and former prize fighter, spoke at the Defenders' convention in the First United Presbyterian church last night. His subject was "Youth and the Handwriting Up on the Wall." He held his hearers nearly an hour and a half in a brilliant summation of the need for the church to give those on the verge of manhood and womanhood something stronger than tradition by which their pent-up capabilities and powers might be utilized.

He was the fourth of a quartet of spiritual experts who are here for this unusual assemblage who contributed outstanding addresses along lines on which they are authorized during the day. Two others of the party aided in song and publicity, Richard Oliver, who directs the Chicago tabernacle singing with his trumpet and Philip Sibersky, who had charge of the Defender movement publications.

Rev. C. L. Eicher in Pulpit. Mingling an evangelistic plea for turning back to God when realizing separation from Him and a defense of the accuracy of Jonah's experience in being swallowed by a whale, Dr. Gerald H. Winrod spoke in the afternoon. He did the Rev. C. L. Eicher, of Chicago, who gave the first of a series of missionary addresses. In the morning, Dr. L. H. Zeimer, of Toledo, who is filling in for the Rev. Kenneth Mackenzie of Westport, Conn., absent by reason of illness, spoke.

Announcement was made by Dr. Winrod, who presided during all of the services that Mr. Rader would speak twice today, his afternoon theme being "Getting Along" and that for the evening "One Thousand Years of Justice."

Pastors Attend Meeting. Members of the East Liverpool Ministerial association adjourned their meeting yesterday morning to hear Dr. Zeimer in his initial Bible exposition on "The Mystery of Godliness." His subject this morning was "The Mystery of the Church." That for tomorrow will be "The Mystery in Christ's Life." On Thursday morning his subject will be "The Mystery of the Resurrection," while on Friday morning it will be "The Mystery of Iniquity."

During both services the Rev. L. A. Britton, pastor of the First Christian church, of Chester, W. Va., directed the singing with Mrs. Harry Watkins, of the First Presbyterian church, as accompanist. Dr. Zeimer made the afternoon invocation and the Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist church, that in the evening. On the latter occasion Mr. Oliver gave a trombone solo; "His Eye is on the Sparrow."

Luther League Meets Friday. Misses Clara Weddell and Shirley Brick will be hostesses to members of the St. John's Luther League Friday night at the latter's home, Pleasant Heights. A social hour will follow the business session.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Keefe of Pennsylvania avenue announce the birth of a daughter, yesterday, in the City hospital. The mother will be remembered as Ruth Robinson. The child has been named Maxine Wilda.

DEATH ROLL

Mrs. Ellen Bott. Mrs. Ellen Bott, formerly of East Liverpool, died today in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Mounts, Tiffin. Besides Mrs. Mounts, she leaves another daughter, Mrs. Wilton McDevitt, Urbana, Ill., and a son, William Bott, Bellaire. The body will be brought here for burial.

Gas Tax Boost Looms

000 over the sum provided in the general revenue bill. The state's portion of the one-cent increase will amount to more than $5,000,000 a year. If the bill is passed, it will be the third time in as many sessions that an additional gas tax has been levied against the Ohio motorist.

Four years ago, the general assembly passed a bill providing for a two-cent gasoline tax, of which the state now receives 45 per cent.

During the session two years ago, the solons increased the tax to three cents. The state receives all of this third cent.

With the increased measures, the state would receive about $21,000,000 a year. Auto Association Fights Proposal. The Ohio Automobile association, which was probably the strongest opponent of the bill, announced through its officers that it will continue its fight against the one-cent increase.

Gov. Cooper's announcement of support came after two conferences held yesterday. Despite the fact that it was known in various circles that Gov. Cooper had no alternative except to support the bill, the conferences took up the better part of the day.

In taking this action, the chief executive executed a sharp "right about face" from his previous stand, when he declared that he favored the general revenue fund as it now stands.

George H. Kidder

George H. Kidder was one of four patrolmen appointed by Mayor R. C. Benedum on Feb. 15, 1928. Kidder was born at St. Mary's, W. Va., December 15, 1909, a son of Jesse and Edith Kidder. His parents moved to Empire, Jefferson county, when he was two years old, and it was in that village that Kidder received his education.

At the age of 16 he came to East Liverpool and was first employed by the International Pulp Stone company, which operated quarries in Hazel street. He had charge of the electric shovel for this company for 12 years, quitting when the concern suspended operations here.

He was married to Miss Margaret Walters in 1921. He is a member of the Fraternal Order of Police, and a Republican in politics.

Kidder is the father of a daughter 16 months old. He lives at 619 1/2 St. Clair avenue.

BOAT CAPSIZES, WOMAN DROWNS

PORTSMOUTH, O., April 2. — Mrs. Della Morgan Rinderle, drowned in the Ohio river when the large rowboat in which she and three other persons were enroute to Vanceburg, Ky., to attend the funeral of Mrs. Rinderle's father, capsized.

The three others, the woman's husband, her son, Leonard, and a brother, Walter Morgan, escaped death by clinging to the overturned boat.

The skiff is believed to have capsized when the waves from a barge broke over its side.

Three Tracks Voted

passage of the ordinance is also required.

The ordinance was passed by a unanimous vote on first reading, but lacked the required three-fourths majority to suspend the rules when Frost and Lindell opposed it. Green, Hughes, Altman, Ferguson and Fleming supported the suspension motion.

Other Ordinances Passed. Three other ordinances were passed on three readings under suspension of the rules. One of these measures establishes grade lines in Wilmot alley, between Orchard Grove avenue and Marcus street; another provides for the grading and curbing of Jennings avenue, Springdale street, North street and Perry avenue, and the third transfer of $125 from the general fund to the division of engineering, department of public service.

Councilman Green opposed the legislation for the Jennings-Perry avenue improvement, but the vote on the latter two measures was unanimous.

Two more requests for adjustment of special assessments for the improvement of Oakwood avenue were referred to the claims committee. These requests were from J. H. Hilbert, trustee, and Mrs. Myrtle Valentine.

A communication was received from the board of health condemning unsanitary conditions existing along the river bank in the vicinity of Ohio avenue, St. George and Railroad streets by reason of private sanitary sewers which empty into the river. Solicitor Hoover was instructed to bring in legislation for the severing of these streets at the next meeting.

Attorney W. S. Stevenson asked construction of a sanitary sewer in Globe street by way of Dry run. The city engineer was instructed to prepare plans for the improvement.

Moore Protests Sale of Land. The Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company asked that the section of paving between the street car tracks in the Walnut street job be not included in the improvement plans. This paving, traction company officials said, was laid only a few years ago and is in good condition. The communication was filed.

Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore protested against the sale of a 50-foot strip of land adjoining the municipal filtration plant, near the state line, to the National Drawn Steel company. Moore said that the water works plant is now operating at 75 per cent capacity and that in future years additional filter beds would be needed to take care of the city's needs. If this land were sold, the director declared, insufficient space would be left for the construction of filter beds.

"We are not objecting to the use of the city property for the steel company's offices but I do not believe that it would be good policy to dispose of ground which will be needed ultimately to increase the water works capacity," Moore declared.

Complaints Reported. Councilman Frost submitted a motion that an ordinance repealing legislation passed several weeks ago, authorizing the sale of the ground, be brought in at the next meeting. Councilmen Frost, Hughes, Lindell, Green and Altman supported the motion, while Ferguson and Fleming opposed it.

Frost also called attention to the condition in which Rural lane had been left by the telephone company in the construction of an underground conduit this winter. Director Moore reported that he had notified the telephone company to replace the brick paving in the alley.

Altman reported that he had received complaints from East End residents relative to damages to lawns and flower beds caused by dogs. Solicitor Hoover informed Altman that property owners should file civil actions against the owners of the dogs which caused damages.

Altman reported that the claims committee was investigating the request of West Ninth street and Oakwood street property owners for adjustment of assessments for the improvement of the two streets. West Ninth street property owners attended the meeting "to listen in" on the committee's report.

On motion of Lindell, the streets committee will inspect the Brady alley improvement to investigate the report that the concrete is showing signs of damage.

tax on the worker, wearing out his life, while allowing a deduction for depletion on incomes from mines, etc. Therefore, Britain allows none of the exemptions for depletion allowed in this country.

NATURALLY, from some source, government must get what is needed to run the country. Lowering taxes in one direction must mean increasing in another, barring greater revenue, or better management.

But certainly, if the owner of a ten million dollar coal mine may plead that his mine is worth less than it was 30 years before, a doctor 60 years old should be allowed to plead that his life and energies amount to less than they did 10 years before, and that he is nearer to the end of his productive years.

A FIELD MUSEUM agent, seeking ruins of ancient Maya days, founds ruins not expected—ruined Mayans dead drunk, substituting "whoopie" parties for ancient religious festivals.

The ancient Mayan religion dating back to the beginning of Christianity forbade drinking parties by young men. Only the old were permitted to get drunk, on important religious occasions, as a sort of sacrifice to the gods.

THE Mayans have adopted Christianity, but without much benefit, at least to their bodies. They celebrate Christmas with a four-day debauch, men and women falling in drunken stupor on the dancing floor.

Mayan women are compelled to dance at these festivals with their bare feet. The men wear moccasins. The idea is to demonstrate man's superiority. He demonstrates it also by getting drunker than the women.

Men seek earthly immortality, or remembrance, in queer ways. A slave burned the great Temple of Diana, that his name might be remembered.

A philosopher jumped into the crater of an active volcano.

The Rev. Dr. John Gwyon, British rector, hangs himself and leaves his fortune, $50,000, to buy knickerbockers for boys.

EACH boy must have sewn into the seam of the knickerbockers the words "Gwyon's Present," in large letters. So-called sports knickers are not to be bought, and "black boys" may not share in the distribution. Explain that idea if you can.

A GROUP of Americans headed by Irene du Pont plans a great winter resort in Cuba, on 22 miles of beach front, 70 miles from Havana, developed in accordance with American ideas of happiness and relaxation.

IT IS not easy to realize it, but within a few years that Cuban resort will be as accessible from New York, Washington, Philadelphia, as Atlantic City, N. J., is now.

And Mr. du Pont will be saying, "We must go where it is less crowded."

WINSTON CHURCHILL, chancellor of the exchequer, starts his financial year with a surplus of $100,000,000, is praised and deserves it. John Bull's surplus is almost as great as Uncle Sam's.

CHURCHILL, by the way, is the grandson of old Leonard Jerome, Wall Street broker and partner of William R. Traverser in the old days.

Jerome built a fine house with a theater in it, now the Manhattan club in Madison Square, New York. He did Britain and the declining Marlborough strain a favor when he married his intelligent daughter to Lord Randolph Churchill, son of the Duke of Marlborough.

D. O'SHEA, superintendent of public schools in New York, will diminish home work for all pupils and eliminate it entirely for very young children. A wise decision. Six hours in school is more than enough for any child.

NOT one adult brain in 100 is capable of real mental concentration for six hours, or three hours. The burden of home work simply causes evasion or weariness and dulls the child's mind. There should be none of it, for children of any age.

CHILDREN under 14 should have at most three hours of school in the morning, none in the afternoon. Unfortunately public schools are planned, largely, to "take children off their mother's hands for as many hours as possible." Convenient for the home, bad for the child, unless the alternative be too many school hours, or city streets for a playground, as it often is.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 2.—(INS)—Under the lead of the oil stocks and specialties, the industrial list rallied to slightly higher price levels in an inactive market this morning. Transactions in the first half hour were under 400,000 shares, or about half as much as in the last three full sessions. Despite the 12 per cent money renewal rate, Wall Street was a little more cheerful over the money situation, particularly in view of Secretary Mellon's statement that speculative credit had not been discussed at the reserve board meeting.

There was considerable short covering to be put through in the first hour, which furnished the market's principal source of buying power. American Can, National Cash Register and other well known speculative leaders rose a point or two on buying from this source, American topping 121 and National Cash Register 128.

As a group, the oil stocks made the best general progress toward the higher price levels. Cutting down of crude oil production this year, with a 15 or 20 per cent increase in consumption, gives the oil companies the best opportunity in five years to boost their profits. Standard Oil of California, in the lead of the oils, advanced about three points to 90, while Atlantic Refining gained two points and Houston rose three to 108 1/2.

LEGION PLANS SUMMER CAMP

American Legion members from East Palestine, Salem, Lisbon and Wellsville attended a meeting of the Columbiana county American Legion in the Legion hall, 633 Dresden avenue last night, when plans were discussed for a summer camp. A committee was named to investigate the proposal.

The next meeting of the council will be held at East Palestine, May 16.

Garage Window Broken.

One of the large plate windows in the show room of the Turk-Nash garage, East Sixth and Walnut streets, was broken. The glass struck a new automobile, damaging one fender, the hood and the finish.

A large section of the roof of the Broadway wharfbow was damaged.

Broken windows and damage to roofs, spouting, fences, billboards and outbuildings were reported from practically every section of the district. Many trees were uprooted. A Youngtown traveling man enroute to East Liverpool yesterday afternoon reported three trees across the road.

Beal Funeral Tomorrow.

With the exception of the fifth grade room in which the Beal child attended, classes were resumed in the Fourth street school at Newell today. Pupils in the building were dismissed yesterday. The Fifth grade room will reopen Wednesday morning.

The Beal child, a daughter of Mrs. Helen Beal, lived with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Mahaffey, about one mile from Congo. Besides her mother and grandparents, she leaves a brother, Kenneth, 9, and a sister, Virginia, 7.

Funeral services will be held in the Mahaffey home at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in charge of the Rev. T. H. Mahon, pastor of the Newell Methodist Episcopal church.

TWICE PROSECUTOR, REFUSED CELL LAST WEEK, ENTERS PENITENTIARY

COLUMBUS, O., April 2.—Attorney George K. Browning, Zanesville, twice prosecutor of Muskingum county, and who was refused admittance into the Ohio state penitentiary last week, was in the penal institution here today serving the first day of his one-to-10-year term for embezzlement.

The man appeared at the penitentiary last week and declared he did not want to be brought to prison like other men, and asked for admittance so he could begin serving his term at once.

Warden P. E. Thomas refused his request on the grounds that he did not have the proper credentials. This did not become known until he had been incarcerated in the bastille yesterday, when Sheriff W. A. McFarland brought him here.

The sheriff had the proper papers for the man and he was admitted. According to the prison records here, the former prosecutor was convicted of embezzling funds of the Standard Securities company at Zanesville.

Browning was given convict number 6,147.

SHRINE LEADER

President John W. Golden, of the local Shrine club is chairman of a committee arranging for a meeting tomorrow night at which Potentate George L. Williams of Al Koran temple, Cleveland, will be a special guest.

AL KORAN HEAD TO VISIT HERE

George L. Williams, Cleveland, Potentate of Al Koran temple, will be a guest of the East Liverpool Shrine club at a meeting in the Masonic temple, Broadway, at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

The meeting will be featured by the election of officers. Motion pictures taken in Alaska will be shown. Shriners from Chester, Wellsville and other nearby places have been invited.

Arrangements for the meeting are in charge of John W. Golden, president of the local club.

the port of embarkation, either Brest or Cherbourg.

The funeral arrangements were announced after a telephone conversation between members of the embassy staff and Parmely Herrick, only son of the late ambassador.

The ambassador's son had wanted to go directly to Paris but was forced to change his plans owing to the fact the earliest vessel available would not reach France until April 12.

Among the distinguished persons who visited the ambassador's bier were Elthu Root, marshal and Mme. Joffre and Mme. Poincare. All were visibly moved.

Maimed Veterans Mourn. Many of the visitors were maimed war veterans who had loved and respected the American ambassador.

Cables and telegrams of sympathy were received at the embassy from the four corners of the earth.

There was some speculation today as to whether or not former Secretary of State Kellogg would reach France before the Tourville leaves for the United States. He is aboard the Ile de France which is not scheduled to arrive at Havre before Friday but it was believed possible that the cruiser would not leave until after Kellogg had arrived and paid his last respects to his friend and diplomatic colleague.

LITTLE CHATS ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

"A LITTLE TOO LATE
—MUCH TOO LATE."

The old saying "A little too late, much too late" seems to apply with particular truth to many cases of illness.

Any trouble that is serious enough to warrant your taking medicine is serious enough to warrant your securing the services of the physician as soon as possible.

This is all the more necessary where trouble of an infectious nature is suspected.

Checking illness and preventing the spread of contagion require your earnest efforts as well as the physician's and the best way you can co-operate is to put the facts before him as soon as trouble is suspected.

Let us fill your prescriptions.

DOVER MAYOR "ON CARPET"

P. J. Groh, Named in Bribery Charge, to Face Governor.

DOVER, O., April 2.—P. J. Groh, Dover mayor, whom an "undercover" man for the state prohibition department charged with accepting $50 to permit the transportation of illicit liquor through this city, was scheduled to appear before Governor Cooper in Columbus today to show cause why he should not relinquish his executive duties as mayor.

Removal proceedings, instituted by Prohibition Commissioner Rupert A. Beetham, resulted from the report of Edward Little, the "undercover" man, who claimed the mayor had taken $50 in marked bills, as a guarantee that he, Little, a supposed bootlegger, could transport liquor through the streets of Dover without interference from local authorities.

Following his arrest Groh stated he had been "framed" and that he would fight the allegation and continue as mayor, even though the city council adopted a resolution demanding his resignation.

BEAVER FALLS SCHOOL PUPIL IS KILLED DURING WIND STORM

Fifty Others Narrowly Escape Injury When Part of Roof of Patterson Building is Ripped Off.

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., April 2.—A little girl was killed and 50 other pupils in the yard of the Patterson township school house, near here, narrowly escaped injury yesterday when a wind storm ripped off a part of the roof, hurling it with terrific force against the stone coping, which dropped in a shower among the children. Naomi Mallick, 7, daughter of Albert Mallick, was struck on the head by a piece of stone, dying later at the Providence hospital here.

Following the accident Principal Curtis Elder sounded the fire drill and nearly 400 other pupils marched safely from the schoolhouse.

The pupils of the first and second grades were at play in the yard when the accident occurred. The schoolhouse, a two-story brick of eight rooms, has been ordered closed for repairs.

Dynamic Pulpit Orator At First U. P. Church.

WINROD ASSISTS

Chicago Tabernacle Chief on Program Tonight.

Following a conference with the radio commission that made necessary his remaining in Washington, D. C., over Sunday, Paul Rader, dynamic pulpit orator, author and former prize fighter, spoke at the "Defenders' convention in the First United Presbyterian church last night. His subject was "Youth and the Handwriting Upon the Wall." He held his hearers nearly an hour and a half in a brilliant summation of the need for the church to give those on the verge of manhood and womanhood something stronger than tradition by which their pent-up capabilities and powers might be utilized.

He was the fourth of a quartet of spiritual experts who are here for this unusual assemblage who contributed outstanding addresses along lines on which they are authorized during the day. Two others of the party aided in song and publicity, Richard Oliver, who directs the Chicago tabernacle singing with his trumpet and Philip Sidersky, who had charge of the Defender movement publications.

Rev. C. L. Eicher in Pulpit. Mingling an evangelistic plea for turning back to God when realizing separation from Him and a defense of the accuracy of Jonah's experience in being swallowed by a whale, Dr. Gerold B. Winrod spoke in the afternoon as did the Rev. C. L. Eicher, of Chicago, who gave the first of a series of missionary addresses. In the morning Dr. L. H. Zeimer, of Toledo, who is filling in for the Rev. Kenneth Mackenzie of Westport, Conn., absent by reason of illness, spoke.

Announcement was made by Dr. Winrod, who presided during all of the services that Mr. Rader would speak twice today, his afternoon theme being "Getting Along" and that for the evening "One Thousand Years of Justice."

Pastors Attend Meeting. Members of the East Liverpool Ministerial Association adjourned their meeting yesterday morning to hear Dr. Zeimer in his initial Bible exposition on "The Mystery of Godliness." His subject this morning was "The Mystery of the Church." That for tomorrow will be "The Mystery in Christ's Life." On Thursday morning his subject will be "The Mystery of the Resurrection," while on Friday morning it will be "The Mystery of Iniquity."

During both services the Rev. L. A. Britton, pastor of the First Baptist church, of Chester, W. Va., directed the singing with Mrs. Harry Watkins, of the First Presbyterian church, as accompanist. Dr. Zeimer made the afternoon invocation and the Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist church, that in the evening. On the latter occasion Mr. Oliver gave a from-bone solo: "His Eye is on the Sparrow."

Luther League Meets Friday. Misses Clara Weddell and Shirley Brick will be hostesses to members of the St. John's Luther League Friday night at the latter's home, Pleasant Heights. A social hour will follow the business session.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Keefe of Pennsylvania announce the birth of a daughter, yesterday, in the City hospital. The mother will be remembered as Ruth Robinson. The child has been named Maxine Wilda.

DEATH ROLL

Mrs. Ellen Bott. Mrs. Ellen Bott, formerly of East Liverpool, died today in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Mounts, Tiffin.

Beulah Mrs. Mounts, she leaves an only daughter, Mrs. Wilton McDevitt, Urbana, Ill., and a son, William Bott, Bellaire.

The body will be brought here for burial.

Gas Tax Boost Looms

000 over the sum provided in the general revenue bill.

The state's portion of the one-cent increase will amount to more than $5,000,000 a year.

If the bill is passed, it will be the third time in as many sessions that an additional gas tax has been levied against the Ohio motorist.

Four years ago, the general assembly passed a bill providing for a ten-cent gasoline tax, of which the state now receives 45 per cent.

During the session two years ago, the solons increased the tax to three cents. The state receives all of this third cent.

With the increased measures, the state would receive about $21,000,000 a year.

Auto Association Fights Proposal. The Ohio Automobile association, which was probably the strongest opponent of the bill, announced through its officers that it will continue its fight against the one-cent increase.

Gov. Cooper's announcement of support came after two conferences held yesterday.

Despite the fact that it was known in various circles that Gov. Cooper had no alternative except to support the bill, the conferences took up the better part of the day.

In taking this action, the chief executive executed a sharp "right about face" from his previous stand, when he declared that he favored the general revenue fund as it now stands.

Your City Servant

Mirrors of E. Liverpool Municipal Family

—George H. Kidder

George H. Kidder was one of four patrolmen appointed by Mayor R. C. Benham on Feb. 15, 1923.

Kidder was born at St. Mary's, Va., December 15, 1900, a son of Jesse and Edith Kidder. His parents moved to Empire, Jefferson county, when he was two years old, and it was in that village that Kidder received his education.

At the age of 16 he came to East Liverpool and was first employed by the International Pulp Stone company, which operated quarries in Hazel street. He had charge of the electric shovel for this company for 12 years, quitting when the concern suspended operations here.

He was married to Miss Margaret Walters in 1921. He is a member of the Fraternal Order of Police, and a Republican in politics.

Kidder is the father of a daughter 16 months old. He lives at 619 12 St. Clair avenue.

BOAT CAPSIZES, WOMAN DROWNS

PORTSMOUTH, O., April 2. — Mrs. Della Morgun Rinderle, drowned in the Ohio river when the large rowboat in which she and three other persons were enroute to Vanceburg, Ky., to attend the funeral of Mrs. Rinderle's father, capsized.

The three others, the woman's husband, her son, Leonard, and a brother, Walter Morgan, escaped death by clinging to the overturned boat.

The skiff is believed to have capsized when the waves from a barge broke over its side.

passage of the ordinance is also required.

The ordinance was passed by a unanimous vote on first reading, but lacked the required three-fourths majority to suspend the rules when Frost and Lindell opposed it. Green, Hughes, Altman, Ferguson and Fleming supported the suspension motion.

Other Ordinances Passed. Three other ordinances were passed on three readings under suspension of the rules. One of these measures establishes grade lines in Wilmet alley, between Orchard Grove avenue and Marcus street, another provides for the grading and curbing of Jennings avenue, Springdale street, North street and Perry avenue, and the third transfer of $125 from the general fund to the division of engineering, department of public service. Councilman Green opposed the legislation for the Jennings-Perry avenue improvement, but the vote on the other two measures was unanimous.

Two more requests for adjustment of special assessments for the improvement of Oakwood avenue were referred to the claims committee. These requests were from J. H. Hilbert, trustee, and Mrs. Myrtle Valentin.

A communication was received from the board of health condemning insanitary conditions existing along the river bank in the vicinity of Ohio avenue, St. George and Railroad streets by reason of private sanitary sewers which empty into the river. Solicitor Hoover was instructed to bring in legislation for the severing of these streets at the next meeting.

Attorney W. S. Stevenson asked construction of a sanitary sewer in Globe street by way of Dry run. The city engineer was instructed to prepare plans for the improvement.

Moore Protests Sale of Land. The Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company asked that the section of paving between the street car tracks in the Walnut street job not be included in the improvement plans. This paving, traction company officials said, was laid only a few years ago and is in good condition. The communication was filed.

Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore protested against the sale of a 50 foot strip of land adjoining the municipal filtration plant, near the state line, to the National Drawn Steel company. Moore said that the water works plant is now operating at 75 per cent capacity and that in future years additional filter beds would be needed to take care of the city's needs. If this land were sold, the director declared, insufficient space would be left for the construction of filter beds.

"We are not objecting to the use of the city property for the steel company's offices but I do not believe that it would be good policy to dispose of ground which will be needed ultimately to increase the water works capacity," Moore declared.

Complaints Reported. Councilman Frost submitted a motion that an ordinance repealing legislation passed several weeks ago, authorizing the sale of the ground, be brought in at the next meeting. Councilmen Frost, Hughes, Lindell, Green and Altman supported the motion, while Ferguson and Fleming opposed it.

Frost also called attention to the condition in which Rural lane had been left by the telephone company in the construction of an underground conduit this winter. Director Moore reported that he had notified the telephone company to replace the brick paving in the alley.

Altman reported that he had received complaints from East End residents relative to damages to lawns and flower beds caused by dogs. Solicitor Hoover informed Altman that property owners should file civil actions against the owners of the dogs which caused damages.

Altman reported that the claims committee was investigating the request of West Ninth street and Oakwood street property owners for adjustment of assessments for the improvement of the two streets. West Ninth street property owners attended the meeting "to listen in" on the committee's report.

On motion of Lindell, the streets committee will inspect the Brady alley improvement to investigate the report that the concrete is showing signs of damage.

tax on the worker, wearing out his life, while allowing a deduction for depletion on incomes from mines, etc. Therefore, Britain allows none of the exemptions for depletion allowed in this country.

NATURALLY, from some source, government must get what is needed to run the country. Lowering taxes in one direction must mean increasing in another, barring greater revenue, or better management.

But certainly, if the owner of a ten million dollar coal mine may plead that his mine is worth less than it was 10 years before, a doctor 60 years old should be allowed to plead that his life and energies amount to less than they did 10 years before, and that he is nearer to the end of his productive years.

A FIELD MUSEUM agent, seeking ruins of ancient Maya days, founds ruins not expected—ruined Mayans dead drunk, substituting "whoopie" parties for ancient religious festivals.

The ancient Mayan religion dating back to the beginning of Christianity forbade drinking parties by young men. Only the old were permitted to get drunk, on important religious occasions, as a sort of sacrifice to the gods.

THE Mayans have adopted Christianity, but without much benefit, at least to their bodies. They celebrate Christmas with a four-day debauch, men and women falling in drunken stupor on the dancing floor.

Mayan women are compelled to dance at these festivals with their bare feet. The men wear moccasins. The idea is to demonstrate man's superiority. He demonstrates it also by getting drunker than the women.

MEN seek earthly immortality, or remembrance, in queer ways. A slave buried the great Temple of Diana, that his name might be remembered.

A philosopher jumped into the crater of an active volcano.

The Rev. Dr. John Gwynon, British rector, hangs himself and leaves his fortune, $50,000, to buy knickerbockers for boys.

EACH boy must have sewn into the seam of the knickerbockers the words "Gwynon's Present," in large letters. So-called sports knickerbockers are not to be bought, and "black boys" may not share in the distribution. Explain that idea if you can.

A GROUP of Americans headed by Irene du Pont plans a great winter resort in Cuba, on 22 miles of beach front, 70 miles from Havana, developed in accordance with American ideas of happiness and relaxation.

IT IS not easy to realize it, but within a few years that Cuban resort will be as accessible from New York, Washington, Philadelphia, as Atlantic City, N. J., is now.

And Mr. du Pont will be saying, "We must go where it is less crowded."

WINSTON CHURCHILL, chancellor of the exchequer, starts his financial year with a surplus of $100,000,000, is praised and deserves it. John Bull's surplus is almost as great as Uncle Sam's.

CHURCHILL, by the way, is the grandson of old Leonard Jerome, Wall Street broker and partner of William R. Travers in the old days.

Jerome built a fine house with a theater in it, now the Manhattan club in Madison Square, New York. He did Britain and the declining Marlborough strain a favor when he married his intelligent daughter to Lord Randolph Churchill, son of the Duke of Marlborough.

D. O'SHEA, superintendent of public schools in New York, will diminish home work for all pupils and eliminate it entirely for very young children. A wise decision. Six hours in school is more than enough for any child.

NOT one adult brain in 100 is capable of real mental concentration for six hours, or three hours. The burden of home work simply causes evasion or weariness and dulls the child's mind. There should be none of it, for children of any age.

CHILDREN under 14 should have at most three hours of school in the morning, none in the afternoon. Unfortunately public schools are planned, largely, to "take children off their mother's hands for as many hours as possible." Convenient for the home, bad for the child, unless the alternative be too many school hours, or city streets for a playground, as it often is.

NEW YORK, April 2.—(INS)—Under the lead of the oil stocks and specialties, the industrial list rallied to slightly higher price levels in an inactive market this morning. Transactions in the first half hour were under 400,000 shares, or about half as much as in the last three full sessions. Despite the 12 per cent money renewal rate, Wall Street was a little more cheerful over the money situation, particularly in view of Secretary Mellon's statement that speculative credit had not been discussed at the reserve board meeting.

There was considerable short covering to be put through in the first hour, which furnished the market's principal source of buying power. American Can, National Cash Register and other well known speculative leaders rose a point or two on buying from this source. American tinning 121 and National Cash Register 128.

As a group, the oil stocks made the best general progress toward the higher price levels. Cutting down of crude oil production this year, with a 15 or 20 per cent increase in consumption, gives the oil companies the best opportunity in five years to boost their profits. Standard Oil of California, in the lead of the oils, advanced about three points to 90, while Atlantic Refining gained two points and Houston rose three to 108 1/2.

Legion Plans Summer Camp. American Legion members from East Palestine, Salem, Lisbon and Wellsview attended a meeting of the Columbiana county American Legion in the Legion hall, 633 Dresden avenue last night, when plans were discussed for a summer camp. A committee was named to investigate the proposal.

The next meeting of the council will be held at East Palestine, May 16.

Storm Victim Dies. (Continued From Page 1)

Garage Window Broken. One of the large plate windows in the show room of the Turk-Nash garage, East Sixth and Walnut streets, was broken. The glass struck a new automobile, damaging one fender, the hood and the finish.

A large section of the roof of the Broadway wharfboat was damaged. Broken windows and damage to practically every section of the district. Many trees were uprooted. A Youngtown traveling man enroute to East Liverpool yesterday afternoon reported three trees across the road.

Beal Funeral Tomorrow. With the exception of the fifth grade room in which the Beal child attended, classes were resumed in the Fourth street school at Newell today. Pupils in the building were dismissed yesterday. The Fifth grade room will reopen Wednesday morning.

The Beal child, daughter of Mrs. Helen Beal, lived with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart McHaffey, about one mile from Congo. Besides her mother and grandparents, she leaves a brother, Kenneth, 9, and a sister, Virginia, 7.

Funeral services will be held in the McHaffey home at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in charge of the Rev. T. H. Mahon, pastor of the Newell Methodist Episcopal church.

TWICE PROSECUTOR, REFUSED CELL LAST WEEK, ENTERS PENITENTIARY

COLUMBUS, O., April 2.—Attorney George K. Browning, Zanesville, twice prosecutor of Muskingum county, and who was refused admittance into the Ohio state penitentiary last week, was in the penal institution here today serving the first day of his one-to-10-year term for embezzlement.

The man appeared at the penitentiary last week and declared he did not want to be brought to prison like other men, and asked for admittance so he could begin serving his term at once.

Warden P. E. Thomas refused his request on the grounds that he did not have the proper credentials. This did not become known until he had been incarcerated in the bastille yesterday, when Sheriff W. A. McFarland brought him here.

The sheriff had the proper papers for the man and he was admitted. According to the prison records here, the former prosecutor was convicted of embezzling funds of the Standard Securities company at Zanesville.

Browning was given convict number 6,117.

Homage Paid Herrick (Continued From Page 1)

the port of embarkation, either Brest or Cherbourg.

The funeral arrangements were announced after a telephone conversation between members of the embassy staff and Parnely Herrick, only son of the late ambassador.

The ambassador's son had wanted to go directly to Paris but was forced to chance his plans owing to the fact the earliest vessel available would not reach France until April 12.

Among the distinguished persons who visited the ambassador's bier were Elihu Root, Marshal and Mme. Joffre and Mme. Poincare. All were visibly moved.

Maimed Veterans Mourn. Many of the visitors were maimed war veterans who had loved and respected the American ambassador.

Cables and telegrams of sympathy were received at the embassy from the four corners of the earth.

There was some speculation today as to whether or not former Secretary of State Kellogg would reach France before the Tourville leaves for the United States. He is aboard the Ile de France which is not scheduled to arrive at Havre before Friday but it was believed possible that the cruiser would not leave until after Kellogg had arrived and paid his last respects to his friend and diplomatic colleague.

"A LITTLE TOO LATE —MUCH TOO LATE."

The old saying "A little too late, much too late" seems to apply with particular truth to many cases of illness.

Any trouble that is serious enough to warrant your taking medicine is serious enough to warrant your securing the services of the physician as soon as possible.

This is all the more necessary where trouble of an infectious nature is suspected.

Checking illness and preventing the spread of contagion require your earnest efforts as well as the physician's and the best way you can co-operate is to put the facts before him as soon as trouble is suspected.

Let us fill your prescriptions.

DOVER MAYOR "ON CARPET"

P. J. Groh, Named in Bribery Charge, to Face Governor.

DOVER, O., April 2.—P. J. Groh, Dover mayor, whom an "undercover" man for the state prohibition department charged with accepting $50 to permit the transportation of illicit liquor through this city, was scheduled to appear before Governor Cooper in Columbus today to show cause why he should not relinquish his executive duties as mayor.

Removal proceedings, instituted by Prohibition Commissioner Rupert A. Beetham, resulted from the report of Edward Little, the "undercover" man, who claimed the mayor had taken $50 in marked bills, as a guarantee that he, Little, a supposed bootlegger, could transport liquor through the streets of Dover without interference from local authorities.

Following his arrest Groh stated he had been "framed" and that he would fight the allegation and continue as mayor, even though the city council adopted a resolution demanding his resignation.

BEAVER FALLS SCHOOL PUPIL IS KILLED DURING WIND STORM

Fifty Others Narrowly Escape Injury When Part of Roof of Patterson Building is Ripped Off.

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., April 2.—A little girl was killed and 50 other pupils in the yard of the Patterson township school house, near here, narrowly escaped injury yesterday when a wind storm ripped off a part of the roof, hurling it with terrific force against the stone coping, which dropped in a shower among the children. Naomi Mallick, 7, daughter of Albert Mallick, was struck on the head by a piece of stone, dying later at the Providence hospital here.

Following the accident Principal Curtis Elder sounded the fire drill and nearly 400 other pupils marched safely from the schoolhouse.

You'll Like Sugardale Bacon

Because it fries so crispy and sweet

SUGARDALE BACON is cured dry.

That's what makes it so different—so much sweeter and tastier—than ordinary bacon.

That's why it fries to a crispy golden brown without the annoying sputtering and spattering of wet-cured bacon.

Start tomorrow with a breakfast of this really better bacon. You'll find it on sale in all Sugardale stores as this week's Sugardale Special.

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

SUMMARY OF ANNUAL REPORT FOR 1928

THE 82ND ANNUAL REPORT of The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, covering operations for the year 1928, will be formally presented to the stockholders at the annual meeting on April 9, 1929. The report shows that although the Company's total operating revenues in 1928 were over $14,000,000 less than in 1927, its net income was over $14,000,000 greater than in 1927. Last year was the fourth successive year in which the net income exceeded that of any previous year.

Net income for the year, amounting to $82,507,613, was equivalent to 14.69% upon the present capital stock outstanding, as compared with 13.63% upon the amount outstanding at the close of 1927.

OPERATING RESULTS

	1928	Comparison with 1927
TOTAL OPERATING REVENUES were.....	$650,867,316	D $14,283,707

After providing for the payment of 7% dividends to the stockholders and for sinking and other reserve funds, $38,950,928 was credited to Profit and Loss Account.

The factors chiefly responsible for the Company's progress during the year and for its increasing financial success are: Large capital expenditures to improve and expand the railroad's plant and facilities; progressive improvement in operating efficiency and economy; cordial cooperative relations between the management and employees, and the continued patronage of the public whom it has been a pleasure to serve.

$18,000 IS ASKED IN FOUR SUITS AGAINST VILLAGE OF COLUMBIANA

Farmers Ask Damages
As Result of Pollution
Of Water by Sewage Disposal Plant Refuse.

LISBON, O., April 2.—As a result of the alleged pollution of water by refuse from a sewage disposal plant, four suits seeking aggregate damages of $18,000 were filed in common pleas court today against the village of Columbiana.

Minnie L. Nichols, who owns a 66-acre farm just north of Columbiana, asks $7,000. The stream of water, she charges, flows near her farm home, and the fifth from the stream has seeped into the well which provides the water supply for the family. She also asks the court to permanently enjoin the village from further maintaining the disposal plant.

John Roller demands $5,000 and a permanent injunction against the village.

Albert W. Harrold and William G. Laughlin each ask $3,000 and a permanent injunction.

John Fellows asked $5,000 in a suit filed several days ago.

The disposal plant was erected about 12 years ago by the village. It was placed on the banks of a stream of water which flows through Mahoning counties.

MOTHER OF SIX ASKS DIVORCE

Mrs. Emma Rigby of East Liverpool, the mother of six children, charges, in a divorce petition filed yesterday, that her husband, James, struck and abused her.

They were married in August, 1902, and the children range in age from 9 to 23 years. Mrs. Rigby also alleges that her husband has been unfaithful and has failed to provide. Attorney Frank H. Hoover filed the action for the plaintiff.

Sues for $180.44.
W. D. Holmes asks judgment for $180.44 in a suit filed against Mrs. Phila Hogue of Salineville. The claim is based on an account for groceries. Attorney George Lafferty is counsel in the case.

WEIGH WHAT YOU DESIRE

If you over-weight, the cause may not lie in over-eating or under-exercise. It may lie in a fault in nutrition which modern research has discovered. And which science now corrects.
The method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. And many of the people you envy—with slender figures, new vivacity and health—will urge you to adopt this way.
The use of Marmola does not require abnormal exercise or diet. In every box you will find the formula, also the reasons for results. You will know just why your weight comes down and why every effort is helpful. Learn the facts, and do it now. Do so by asking your druggist today for a $1 box of Marmola.

COURT EXCUSES PETIT JURORS

The men and women who have served on the petit jury in the common pleas court were excused from further duty during the term by Judge W. F. Lane just before the adjournment of court Monday afternoon.

The work of the January term of court will continue during the next two weeks. The spring term will open on Monday, April 15.

CARL C. DONLEY, MISS COY WED

Carl C. Donley and Miss Helen P. Coy, both of Salem, were married in Lisbon by the Rev. C. N. Church, D. D., pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Licenses have also been issued to James William Lamp, of Wellsville, and Miss Mildred Virginia Willis, of East Liverpool; James Henry Weigand and Miss Theresa Carmaleta Sage, both of Salem, and Wilbert C. Crouthers and Miss Susanna Doris Turick, of Wellsville.

TWO STUDENTS ARE MISSING

Ralph 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lowe, West Lincoln Way, and William Ellingsworth, also 16, an orphan, both juniors in Lisbon high school, have been missing two weeks. The lads left Lisbon without coat or hat.

Mortgage Foreclosure Asked.
Walter W. Baillie has filed an action in common pleas court against Annie Yonovich and Joe Yonovich, seeking foreclosure of a mortgage on 1.69 acre tract of Salem township land. The plaintiff asks judgment against the defendants for $830 which is claimed due on a loan made to them in Salem about two years ago.

Mrs. Anfield Todd Funeral.
Funeral services for Mrs. Anfield Todd who died Sunday in her home south of Lisbon, were held today. Burial was made in the cemetery at Bethel Presbyterian church.

Alimony Settlement Made.
Wallace G. Weaver of Salem, escaped prosecution for contempt in the common pleas court here by adjusting financial matters connected with the alimony order issued almost two years ago when a divorce was granted to Mrs. Hazel M. Weaver. When the divorce was granted in June, 1927, because of extreme cruelty, Weaver was ordered to pay up all arrears in all.

ENCHANTINGLY LOVELY.
THE STYLE with triple tiered flounces is new vogue of Paris for daytime occasions in printed silk crepe for prints while smart for street, have an air of formality for afternoons. The sleeves are snugly fitted below the elbows with darts and trimmed with buttons. The V-neckline has an applied band which is interesting made of plain silk crepe, sheer crepe or lace. The flounces show diagonal movement at front, and ripple softly at each movement. In crepe satin, cut the flounces and applied neck band of reverse of crepe. In silk crepe and georgette crepe, the edges of flounces can be piped.

THE PATTERN No. 2756 is designed in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. The new Picture Chart which is included, explains every detail necessary to make it.

In ordering pattern clip the design shown or order by number, and be sure to specify the size you want. Write your name and address plainly, enclosing 15 cents and mail to Fashion Department, East Liverpool Review. From 7 to 10 days are required for delivery of patterns.

STOP THIS CRIMINAL

Of all the culprits who ply the trade of crime, the arsonist is to be most despised. His victims have been legion.

To gain dishonest dollars for himself the arsonist will sacrifice the life of others and imperil property of untold value.

But the hand of the law is fairly certain now to seize this criminal. Detection and punishment have been brought to such a high percentage of success that he has small chance of escape. The Arson Squad generally gets its man!

The Stock Fire Insurance companies, through the National Board of Fire Underwriters and its Arson Committee, wage relentless war against the arsonist.

Squads of trained men work quietly and without noise or show, in co-operation with legal authorities, in every state of the Union, to guard the people of America against this crime of arson and the practice of incendiarism by pyromaniacs and other irresponsible persons.

The results have been gratifying, and will be even more so when the American people realize the menace and cost of incendiary fires.

This is but one of many measures employed by the Stock Fire Insurance companies in the elimination of fire hazards—the conservation of life and property. The Arson Squad works constantly with police, fire marshals, fire departments and other officials.

"The Crime of Crimes," an interesting booklet on arson and incendiarism, may be had upon request to

Mayberry Stops Fox In Fourth

Freddy Boylestein Easy Winner in Semi-final.

IN one of the most sordid main bouts held here for some time, Howard Mayberry, Donora bantamweight star, knocked out Midget Fox, purporting to come from Indianapolis, in the fourth round of their scheduled eight-round windup.

And Mayberry, at that, enacted a more or less difficult role in attempting to carry Fox that distance.

Neither Fox nor his manager are known in this district. And while Fox gets all credit coming to him for his game stand against the former Canadian champ, his manager, a man by the name of Brady, stands convicted of one of the most colossal blunders chargeable to a manager. He has absolutely no right to be a manager if he possesses no better judgment than he displayed in this match.

The local matchmaker cannot be blamed. But the ability of Howard Mayberry is too well known to permit an opponent's manager to attempt to justify a match of this kind by saying he did not know. If he is a manager, he should know. That's his business.

Mayberry used enough stuff in his left to bring the fight to a stop. Humanitarian instincts prompted him to spare the kid.

FREDDY BOYLESTEIN, crafty Kiltanling welterweight, had things virtually his own way with Eddie Anderson, the bionic Pittsburgher, in the six-round semi-final.

Boylestein hit Anderson plentifully, taking the lead at the outset of the battle and while the latter bounced to the canvas in the fifth and again in the sixth, he managed to stick it out until the closing minute of the final round when Referee Al Watson stopped the fracas.

It was Boylestein's fight all the way. He outboxed, outstepped and outclassed Anderson so thoroughly that there was no excuse for comparison.

Against the crafty, lightning fast Boylestein, Anderson appeared lethargic and stolid. On one or two occasions he looped vicious swings but his flashes or aggressiveness were only momentary. It was difficult for him to be aggressive when Boylestein was going in at him all the time jabbing, punching and cutting away with flying fists which kept Anderson so busy covering he found few opportunities to be aggressive.

THERE was little to choose between Nick Caruso, Midland lightweight, and Tommy Heilman, the Donora kid who is a member of the Mayberry boxing colony, except, possibly, Heilman's cleaner punching and more polished workmanship.

The Midland boxer is a tough boy and it will take a better man than Heilman is to stop him. If Caruso could acquire speed and learn to snap his punches which, possibly, he will if he continues to improve as he has, he may boast himself considerably.

Kenny Davis, East Liverpool feather won from Johnny Munroe, New Kensington, in the four-round opener.

Davis beat Munroe to the punch throughout the bout. At long range he jabbed Munroe consistently. On the inside Munroe could have cut his midsection to ribbons if he had known enough to do it. But Davis got out of the clinches as quickly as possible.

The East Liverpool lad tossed one of the prettiest punches of the show in the second round.

Munroe shoved Davis back into the ropes and instead of following right on his heels to take whatever opening there might be, he hesitated a second and then came on. His hesitation almost rang down the curtain for him. Davis caught his right, bounced off the hemp and socked Munroe flush on the jaw. The New Kensington lad took nine, got to his feet and weathered the storm of that round. He stayed the third and revived in the fourth sufficiently to jab Davis pretty lively.

WITH the signed contracts of Harry Blitman of Philadelphia and Johnny Farr of Cleveland filed with the Youngstown Boxing commission, local fight fans who travel to Youngstown tomorrow night will see two of the game's best boys in the junior lightweight division.

Blitman scored a hit, in more ways than one, when he knocked out Johnny Datto in Youngstown recently. Farr has never shown in a Youngstown ring but needs no introduction. Farr claims a no-knockout record. Blitman's forte is knocking 'em. He wants to be the first to put the Cleveland Italian to sleep.

Larry Mage-Bobby Grant, Al Reno-Jimmy Avon, Romeo Pacelli-Alvie Miller and Carl Patron-Kid Thompson make up the other bouts. The card gets off at 8:15.

According to a popular English lecturer, the best lecture audiences in England are in Yorkshire, "but the country that consumes more lectures than any other is the United States."

One of the rapidly growing industries of the southwest is raising rabbits.

McGraw Counts On His Lefties This Year

These three lefties belonging to John McGraw, veteran manager of the New York Giants, are expected to produce a nice sweet string of victories for the Gotham club this season. The way they have been going in training workouts is mighty satisfactory. From left to right they are Henry, Hubbell and Walker.

Drake Relays Attract 2,500 College Stars

Big Ten Will Have Many Athletes in Meet.

DES MOINES, April 2.—Kecner competition than ever before is expected to result in a new crop of track records at the twentieth annual Drake relays, to be held here April 26 and 27.

Invitations to participate in the yearly track and field classic have been extended by Drake university to twelve hundred schools, including leading colleges and universities throughout the United States and the outstanding high schools of the middle west.

Over a hundred have already responded, their representatives will be present next month when 2,500 entrants are expected to match strides on the Drake cinder path.

Army to Come.

From the east will come Coach Leo Novak with three relay teams and a squad of individual performers bearing the colors of the United States Military Academy at West Point. It will be the first time in its history that the Point has sent a track team west of the Mississippi in collegiate competition.

Out in the great open spaces the University of Utah is grooming a squad to send up against the easterners and the speed artists from the Big Six and Big Ten conferences of the Midwest.

Down in Dixie Southern Methodist university has a batch of boys who will be at the relays and hope to hear off some of the records.

Even Louisville's Male High school has sent word that its star relay performers will make the trip to Des Moines to show what high schools can do in the way of improving track marks.

Big Ten Entered.

Most of the Big Ten schools and virtually all those in the Big Six and the Missouri Valley conference will also be entered, while the East and South are expected to nominate entrants within a week or so.

"We expect the individual competition to be the greatest in the history of the relays," Director Ossie Solem said. "With no Olympic on the program for the year eyes of track followers are turned toward the Drake Carnival and I believe that the new crop of college track athletes will surpass many of the marks hung up in previous years."

Records now being set in the indoor competitions of the Big Ten Big Ten, Big Six, Missouri Valley and Southwestern conferences indicate that several old marks will go the way of the departed at the Drake games this year.

Baseball Times Have Changed Reflects Nick Altrock, Now 52

Sport's Biggest Clown Comments on Big Crowds of Present Era And Big Salaries.

TAMPA, Fla., April 2.—"What a league this is!" exclaimed Nick Altrock, the clown of baseball and once one of the greatest pitchers in the game, as he commented today on the big crowds that now view the national pastime and the fat salaries ball players draw.

"Why, when I was going good with the Chicago White Sox $3,600 a year was the top for a ball player and very few got that much," declared Altrock. "Say, I pitched ball when $2,400 was the limit. That was when I was with Louisville in the National league. My, how times have changed! Now some of the players get $10,000 and $20,000 for just signing a contract."

Nick was chasing flies in left field at the Tampa training camp of the Washington Senators as he talked baseball with this writer. Nick, a end of tobacco in his cheek and his cap on the side of his head, looked as comical as ever and his antics as he made funny muffs of fly balls drew laughs from the crowd of colored boys and natives huddled in the grand stand.

"This is my thirty-second year in baseball but I can still go and get them," declared Nick as he raced over to the foul line and pulled down a liner with one hand. "Pretty good for an old man, eh?"

Speaking of the crowds that baseball draws, Nick said: "I can remember in the American league when we thought if we were playing before 8,000 or 10,000 we thought we were performing before a million. I remember when in 1907, we played before 23,000 in New York. We sure thought that was going some. But on the Fourth of July, 1922, we played before 72,000 in the Yankee stadium, and last season in the Philadelphia Athletics and the New York Yankees played before a crowd numbering up to 80,000."

Old Wooden Stands

"I miss the old wooden stands that were built in close to the home plate. Then you knew the fans, and when they had something to say about you you heard it. You could talk back to them, too. Now you've got to make a mention or faces."

Nick said he enjoyed "this funny business," adding: "I get a big kick out of being a comedian even though it isn't just an easy proposition thinking up new stunts. It's all clean fun—at any rate, I see that there is nothing off color."

"Who was the best ball player you ever saw?" I asked Altrock.

"Ty Cobb," he replied promptly. "But that guy Hans Wagner was no slough. I guess I'd put Wagner second. There was only one Ty Cobb, I never saw his equal. He had the old fire in his make up, and you couldn't hold him when he turned loose."

"Wagner was a great all around player. He'd hit a million with that ball these young fellows today are swinging at."

Nick is Now 52.

Altrock is 52 years old. This is his eighteenth year with the Washington club. He was born and raised in Cincinnati but now makes his home in Washington. He reached the pinnacle of his brilliant baseball career when he was a star southpaw on the Chicago White Sox team when the "big four" of the pitching staff were Altrock, Big Ed Walsh, Frank Smith and "Doc" White. Altrock told this writer today that the greatest game he ever pitched was against St. Louis in 1906 at a critical stage of the pennant race, late in the season. He shut the Browns out, 1 to 0, in thirteen innings. Barney Peltz was the opposing pitcher. The White Sox got their run, Nick said, "in the lucky thirteenth." Pat Dougherty, an outfielder was on third with two down and third baseman Lee Tannehill, a light hitter, came up to bat.

"They wanted to take Lee out for a pinch hitter," Altrock reminisced, "but I wouldn't stand for it. And Lee came through with a single and the old ball game was in the bag."

Nick left his position in left field at this juncture to juggle a bat on his nose.

AT TRENTON, N. J.:—Young Terry, Trenton welterweight, outpointed Joe Kuhns, of Reading, Pa. (10).

Rosies Are Cage Champs

Cleveland Takes Fourth Straight From Ft. Wayne.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., April 2.—Cleveland Rosenblums today dominated the ranks of professional basketball following their triumph over Fort Wayne in the final game of the "world series" here last night.

The Rosies made a clean sweep of the championship series, winning the fourth and deciding game by the score of 30 to 22.

The Hoosiers again wilted in the closing stages, and the Rosenblums, coming with a rush, piled up points near the end with great rapidity.

The game was largely an individual battle between Carl Husta and Benny Borgmann. Husta failed to hold the Hoosier forward for the fourth consecutive game, but at the same time he piled up a nice score for himself, each of these men registered 10 points during the evening.

In Training Camps

Sisler's Homer Beats Browns.

MIAMI, Fla., April 2.—The Brooklyn Robins faced another drubbing at the hands of the Boston Braves here today. A freak home run by Sisler gave the Braves a 3 to 1 verdict yesterday. Bob Smith pitched the full game for Boston.

Yanks, Pirates Collide.

HOUSTON, Texas, April 2.—Having recovered their poise at the expense of minor league outfits, the New York Yankees met sterner opposition here today in the Pittsburgh Pirates. Hoyt and Heimach twirled the champions to a 3 to 1 win over Mobile in the Alabama city yesterday.

Indians Face Test.

NEW ORLEANS, April 2.—The Cleveland Indians were to get their first real test of the spring training season with the invasion of the New York Giants at Heilmann park here today. The Indians and Giants will play a two-game series. McGraw said he expected to see Bill Walker, his young southpaw, Benton and Hubbell. Cleveland will probably start Joe Shaute.

Cards in Jacksonville.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 2.—The Cardinals were here today to match their wares with the Jacksonville Tars of the South Atlantic league. Yesterday the 1928 National league champions beat the Newark club of the International league in a tight game, 3 to 1.

Montreal Wallops Howley Club.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 2.—Dan Howley's charges will attempt to bring in a victory today at the expense of the Southern league barons. They were slaughtered by Montreal at Daytona yesterday, 16 to 10, in an eight-inning affair.

Friday night, a smucker for Ohio State alumni in the Pittsburgh University club, sponsored by Pitt alumni.

A reception for Ohio State women graduates and wives of alumni will be held simultaneously in the auditorium of the University club, sponsored by Pitt alumni.

It's 8-5 Against Bruins; Hugmen Rate Even Money

Wall Street Commissioners Quoting Final Prices On 1929 Races; Phils and Red Sox? Something Like 100 to 1.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 2.—If it was possible to think as kindly of the Phillies or Boston Red Sox as you do of $10, which I concede is selling good nature well above the market price, you can have the implied fun today of watching that sawbuck run against at least a thousand for the next six months. If you suspect the St. Louis Cardinals of being greatly misunderstood, the same ten dollars can get you fifty in one spot and thirty in another. If you fancy the New York Giants or Pittsburgh Pirates, your ten will be worth twenty-five and thirty respectively provided either of the pair pays off.

All of which means that the Wall Street betting commissioners are quoting what the likely to be their final prices on the baseball races, beginning two weeks hence, and in case you crave uncertainty and plenty of tempo, an urbanite stranger will be there to take your money and see that you get the right change.

The New York Yankees and the Chicago Cubs are the favored entries in most, if not all, books operating in the street. The price against the Cubs in at least two cases is 8 to 5 that they don't win the pennant, with the Giants trailing along at 2 1/2 to 1. The Yankees are so highly esteemed that they rate even money in one book and another is willing to lay a price of 6 to 5 that the American league pennant is theirs for the asking. This commission even is ready to go further and parlay the Yankees in both the pennant race and the 1929 world series offering to take 3 to 1.

The Cubs, Giants and Pirates in the National league and the Yankees, Athletics and Browns in the American run one-two-three, or thereabouts, in all quotations. However, in one instance, the Cardinals are coupled with the Pirates at 3 to 1 and, in another, the 1928 champions are held no better than fourth at odds of 5 to 1. Further variations are found in the American league quotations, one set including the Browns, Washington Senators and Detroit Tigers at the same figure, 10 to 1, while you could get 12 to 1 against the Tigers and 25 to 1 against the Senators from another commissioner.

From this, it might be judged that the upheaval in the Detroit camp and the failure of Heine Schuble at shortstop, the failure of Heine Schuble at shortstop, the failure of Heine Schuble at shortstop.

The lad who wants to parlay the Yankees is inconsistent enough to offer only 7 to 5 against the Athletics and 7 to 1 against the Browns, where as he jumps sharply to 25 to 1 against the Senators, then he offers 30 to 1 against the Cleveland Indians, 40 to 1 against the Chicago White Sox and 60 to 1 against the Red Sox. Some of his competitors, on the other hand, will lay as high as 100 to 1 against the Sox but only 20 to 1 against Cleveland and 15 to 1 against Cleveland.

First division prices, featuring the Cubs, Giants, Pirates and Cardinals, run almost uniformly in the National league and nearly all the boys peg the Cincinnati Reds for fifth place with their odds of 10 to 1 against a pennant for John, scion of the Hendricks.

PENN CAPTAIN

Mart Wilner, second baseman and captain of the University of Pennsylvania's baseball team. Mart and his team have launched a vigorous training campaign for coming games.

However, one of them thinks the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Boston Braves should be held no higher than 20 to 1, while another quotes 40 to 1 against the Braves and 60 to 1 against the Dodgers. The Phillies? One hundred to one almost anywhere and as high as 120 to 1 from the boy friend who is willing to lay one dollar against three that the Yankees win both pennant and series.

The three communists who kidnaped a Socialist deputy to allow a Communist to broadcast in his place, have been sentenced in Berlin, Germany, to terms in prison.

Forbidden Door

Story of Adventurous Youth, Mystery, Fortune and a Girl.

By Herman Landon

A little shudder shook the slight figure on the sofa. She sat up, her eyes widening. "I don't understand you. Why do you look at me that way? Why do you speak to me in this tone? I know no more than anybody else does. Maxwell left home one morning and never came back. What else is there to know?"

"What else?" echoed Mallingham jeeringly. "If any other man had disappeared under similar circumstances, there would have been all sorts of ugly suspicions. But people could never imagine anything dramatic happening to your husband. When he disappeared it was merely supposed that he had wandered away and died. Does that supposition satisfy you?"

"Well, why shouldn't it?" Julia resumed her languorous position, resting her blond head on her shapely elbow. She seemed her own cool self-possessed self again. "What's happened, Ernest? You never talked to me about these things before?"

"All the more reason why we should discuss them now. Will you answer my question?"

She tossed her head defiantly. "You have no right to ask it."

"Right?" He laughed. "No, perhaps not—but I am asking it just the same, and you are going to answer me."

You Killed Him?

He stepped in front of her and stood smiling down at her as one might smile at a willful child. Gradually her face changed. There was a look of resentment and mutiny but a trace of dread as well.

"But I can't tell you anything, Ernest. All I know is what I have already told. Maxwell had no enemies. Nobody had a reason for—harming him. He was happy and contented. I am sure he did not mean to disappear. Maybe he was taken ill—his heart was rather weak, you know—or maybe he met with an accident. Such things happen."

"Yes, I know—but it is rather curious his body was never found. Of course, he might have come to his death under circumstances that eradicated every trace of him. That's conceivable, but hardly probable. I wonder—" He broke off, his cold gray eyes regarding her more searchingly. "Julia, look at me!"

She lifted her eyes with what seemed a fierce exertion of will power. A faint, challenging, mocking smile was on her lips, but it faded away in a tremor.

As if she had seen something in his face that frightened her, her eyes fell again.

Mallingham laughed sarcastically. "Just as I thought. You killed him."

"No!" The short syllable burst from her lips in a little scream. She twisted her hands hysterically. "No—no! I didn't—I never— You have no right to talk to me like this."

A Straight Story.

Mallingham stood smiling down at her—a smile of amusement with no pity in it. "If you didn't kill him, what are you so excited about? There now—compose yourself. We don't want any hysterics. You know I have no interest in what happened to your husband. I am merely concerned on your account. Your denials aren't very convincing. Your acting is far from perfect. What you need is a few rehearsals."

"Rehearsals?"

Mallingham pulled up a chair and sat down beside her. "Yes, somebody else may ask you the very same questions I am asking you tonight. That's why I am urging you to get your answers in shape."

She gave him a long, trembling look. "You have something to tell me. What is it?"

Mallingham lit a cigarette. His fingers were curiously fine and white for such a big man.

"Hannan is in town," he announced.

She lay rigidly still. "Oh, Hannan," she said dully.

"Yes, Hannan Martenet, your stepson. I happened to drop in at the Illington this evening and learned by chance that he is registered there."

He will be surprised to discover what a youthful stepmother he has."

Julia looked a little dazed. Her shimmering gown lay like a spray of ocean froth over her slender figure.

"Hannan in town," she whispered. "And stopping at the Illington. I wonder why he didn't come here. This is his home."

"Quite true, but perhaps he takes after his grandfather rather than his father. If so, he will naturally do the exact opposite of what is expected. You have never seen him, have you?"

"Yes, once. But I had only a glimpse of him. And that was years ago, long before I married Maxwell. I have no recollection of him at all."

A Potential Villainess

"That's natural. I understand he has been a rover ever since he left college in the middle of his second year. Too much wanderlust, I imagine, and that's why I suspect there is more of Old Winthrop in him than of Maxwell. Well, we shall soon see. Probably life has tamed him a bit. He must be—let me see—about 27 now—a year older than his fascinating stepmother."

Julia's fair head was resting among the pillows again. Mallingham's easy tone appeared to have quieted her.

"I wonder what has brought him back to America," she murmured.

"Hard to tell. Perhaps he needs money. Or maybe he is just curious about things. At any rate, since he is here you will probably see more of him. Naturally he will ask all sorts of questions."

"I understand that at the time of Maxwell's death he was hobnobbing with cannibals somewhere in the South Seas. The cablegram didn't reach him till months later. He will want to know a little about everything of course. That's why I advise you to be prepared."

"You speak as if I had some dreadful secret on my conscience."

"Every woman is a potential villainess."

Julia could smile again. "Flattery and calumny in one breath! What shall I tell Hannan?"

Mallingham considered. "If you dare, tell him the truth. It not, tell him a convincing lie—but be sure it is convincing."

A shadow that might have been a mask for thought passed over Julia's exquisite face. Her poise was deserting her again. There was both fear and appeal in the look she levelled at the man sitting beside her.

Mallingham, noting her vacillation, permitted himself a mephistophelian smile.

"Among other things," he suggested, "Hannan may ask you where Maxwell went the day he disappeared. Do you know?"

"No!"

Mallingham regarded her steadily.

"That was a little too emphatic, my dear. A righteous person doesn't find it necessary to utter words of one short syllable with such vehemence. So you have no idea where Maxwell went that day. Do you want me to tell you?"

"You? What do you know about it?"

"A great deal, perhaps. Isn't there a place somewhere in New Hampshire, in a valley in the White Mountain ranges, where Winthrop Gaston Martenet built a summer home a number of years before his death? Yes, I thought so. It's called Vahlalia Notch, or some such heathenish name, I believe. Quite a picturesque place, I understand, miles from nowhere and difficult of access. Well, that's where your husband went the day he disappeared."

A moan sprang from Julia's lips. Half rising from the sofa, she stared at him out of eyes that seemed suddenly swollen with dread.

"How—how do you know that?"

"I didn't. Mallingham blew a puff of smoke ceiling ward. "It was only a guess—but you have confirmed it."

He rose and wandered about the room. A film of pallor and a grim contraction of the lips had suddenly marred Julia's loveliness. Darkly, tremblingly, with her breath coming in little gulps, she watched the movements of his lithe, trim figure.

Presently he stopped in front of the revolving sphere. There he stood, rocking slowly on his heels, silent, fascinated.

"Well," he inquired at length, without lifting his eyes from the magical globe, "don't you think you might as well admit that you sent your husband to his death?"

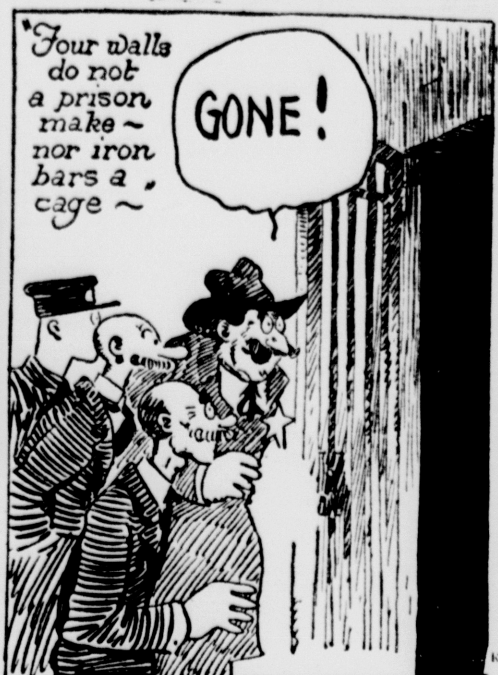

A hoarse groan made him turn. Julia had risen. She was swaying, her level arms clutching for support. It was as if a vandal's hand had touched her beauty, ravaging it.

State Fire Marshal Defies Ouster Order

Charles Nolte, Wheeling, Refuses to Recognize Appointment of His Successor.

CHESTER, W. Va., April 2—Carl O. Stahlman, of Bluefield, yesterday took over the office of state fire marshal, although Charles W. Nolte of Wheeling refused to recognize the appointment of his successor.

Nolte, who was named by former State Auditor Samuel T. Mallison, contends his appointment was for a four-year term, expiring in July, 1931. An exchange of letters between Nolte and State Auditor Edgar C. Lawson, who appointed Stahlman, developed the respective contentions as to the status of the fire marshal's office.

Nolte served formal notice upon Lawson that his understanding of the law was that his term had not expired and that he would continue to fill duties of the office until the expiration of his term.

Lawson replied with a note in which he directed Nolte to deliver the keys of the office to Stahlman, or one of the employees of the office. Nolte is expected to bring court action to determine his right to the office.

Campbell Funeral Services.

Funeral services for Mrs. Nancy B. Campbell, 50, wife of Walter Campbell, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in her home near Georgetown, Pa., in charge of the Rev. C. D. Fanner, pastor of the Hookstown Free Methodist church. Burial will be made in the Hookstown cemetery.

PASTOR LISTS SERMON TOPICS

The Rev. William Bullock, pastor of the Fairview Presbyterian church, Puzhstown, will preach at evangelistic services Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights.

The sermon subjects are: Wednesday—"Christ, or What?" Thursday—"What is a Christian?" Friday—"Making Confession."

Persons desiring to unite with the church will meet with the session at the close of the services Friday night. Communion services will be held next Sunday morning.

GRADE PUPILS TO STAGE PLAY

Pupils of the first, second and third grades of the Central school will present the playlet, "Spring Glow," in the First Christian church on April 11 and 12. The cast is being directed by the Misses Gertrude Shaw, Rebecca Johnston, Wilma Plotts, Eleanor Miller and Elizabeth Milligan, teachers.

Proceeds will be applied to payment on the piano recently purchased for the school.

Council Holds Short Session.

Council session last night in the municipal building was given over to the transaction of routine business and authorizing the sale of a strip of property owned by the city at the lower end of Carolina avenue.

GOVERNOR FIGHTS IMPEACHMENT

Governor Huey Long left of Louisiana, is carrying on a bitter fight against sensational charges which are being brought against him by the state legislature in an effort to impeach him. He has indicated that he will use all means at his command to defeat their efforts. Dr. Paul M. Cyr, of Jeanerette, La., from the sugar belt district of the state is considered the most likely successor in the event the legislature impeaches Governor Long.

STATE GAS TAX SHOWS INCREASE

Gasoline tax receipts for the calendar year 1934 will be approximately ten per cent greater than in 1933, according to estimates made yesterday by W. S. Buzion, chief clerk of the gasoline tax department at Charleston.

Last year the department also estimated that the increase would be 10 per cent, but the receipts fell a little more than one percent short of the estimate, the increase being between eight and nine percent.

The gross amount collected in 1933 was $1,147,898.25, as compared to $1,286,594.16 in 1934, on the tax of four cents a gallon.

Refunds in 1934 were $110,224.75, while in the following year the refunds aggregated $145,795.91. The refunds are made on all gasoline purchased except for the operation of motor vehicles and to distributors covering leakage and evaporation.

The net amount collected in 1934 was $1,176,369.21, as compared to $1,176,673.41 in 1933.

Bible School Record.

New attendance record was established Sunday when 465 attended Bible school in the First Church of Christ.

School Board Meets.

Routine business was transacted at the meeting of the board of education last night in the high school building.

Loyal Sons Meet Tonight.

Loyal Sons class of the First Church of Christ will meet tonight with A. Earl Wilson in his home in Church street. Officers will be installed. Lunch will be served.

MRS. HAYWARD CLUB HOSTESS

Mrs. Howard Hayward was hostess recently to members of the Just-A-Mere club in her home in Louisiana avenue. Birthday gifts were exchanged, after which refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Jay Minor and Lola Minor. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Earl Pugh in Gas Valley.

IN TRIANGLE

This exclusive photo shows Dorothy Collins to whom slain Harry Adams is said to have considered himself married according to the Buddhist faith. Dorothy wrote him that her heart beat double thinking of her "husband in Buddha." Her letters form part of the evidence which the defense says drove Mrs. Olive Adams to chloroform her husband, the Hartford meteorologist.

GIVE BABY HIS CHANCE TO GROW

Mothers Must Build Up Their Strength of Body

Every baby has a right to be well born. It has a right to a healthy parent. No woman has the privilege of neglecting her own body and permitting her blood to be polluted by the absorption of waste products. She should be clean inside as well as out. No person is clean who suffers from constipation. The waste products of the body must find some way of getting out. If the natural channel is closed the skin, lungs and kidneys are all overworked. Even then the blood becomes foul. When it does, the stomach gives way, or some other part of the body suffers.

A bad situation deserves plain speaking. Every woman who expects to become a mother should have two or three normal bowel movements a day. So should everyone else. Nature never intended that waste matter should remain in the body to be reabsorbed into the blood stream, and Nature punishes everybody who allows that condition to exist.

Most constipation is catarrhal in character. Often it is caused by catarrh; sometimes it causes catarrh. No amount of violent purges will relieve this catarrhal condition. They only aggravate it. A treatment of the entire system so the Nature herself can overcome the trouble is the right way. That is one of the reasons why so many people say World's Tonic works wonders in cases of constipation. It not only relieves promptly in most cases, but it gives Nature to remove the cause of the trouble.

Expectant mothers can take World's Tonic without danger, and it is intended to help purify the blood, remove catarrhal manifestations and aid the kidneys in throwing off poisons. When these are done, the baby has many more chances of health than it can have when the mother herself is diseased. Give the youngsters the chance by using World's Tonic, which can be obtained at Carnahan's also C. M. Brannon's at Wellsville or any other first class drug store. (A-2)—Adv.
